Franco's New Cabinet Bids for Dollars, New Place With the West

Strongly Monarchist, It Would Place a King on Spain's Throne

Other Changes

Shakeup Comes After Visit of Eight U. S. Senators

Madrid, July 20 (AP)—Generalissimo Francisco Franco appointed a new cabinet last night in a bid for American dollars and closer ties with the non-Communist west.

Highly placed sources said also that the new cabinet, which is strongly monarchist, would place a king on Spain's throne. The throne has been vacant since Alfonso XIII fled in 1931. Restoration of the monarchy is expected to come only after long and delicate negotiations.

Franco himself remains as chief of state and president of the government.

The shakeup came shortly after the visit to Spain of eight American senators, representing the Foreign Relations Committee, and of Adm. Forrest Sherman, the U. S. Navy chief, who reportedly reached a basic agreement with Franco on American use of Spanish naval and air bases.

President Truman told his news conference yesterday the U. S. has somewhat warmed its policy towards Spain mainly for military reasons. Britain and France have announced their opposition to closer U. S. ties with Spain, even though limited to military fields.

Other Changes

In addition to the return of the monarchy, other changes expected to make the regime more acceptable to western public opinion and pave the way for U. S. loans include:

1. Greater freedom of the press, with liberty to criticize everything except the Roman Catholic Church, Franco and the fundamental laws of the realm.

2. Greater participation by the Cortes (parliament) in state affairs. At present the Cortes is little more than a rubber stamp. Its rules probably will be amended to give it more power to criticize the government.

3. A general amnesty for political prisoners who are now free on "conditional" liberty.

Spain's desperate economic situation looms large behind Franco's new policy. The country has been wallowing in the economic doldrums for many years. The people are finding it more and more difficult to make a living.

The highway and railway networks, the worst in western Europe, are in urgent need of repair. Industry needs replacements and raw materials to keep busy. The armed forces have only antiquated equipment and not enough of that.

American diplomatic representatives in Madrid and Franco's representative in Washington have long been telling him that American aid for depressed Spain would come only after he made some concessions toward liberalizing the regime.

The generalissimo summoned his old cabinet immediately after conferring with the eight senators July 13. He told the ministers they were being fired so he could appoint a new group to orient Spain's policy closer to the United States.

The Roman Catholic Church, concerned over mounting unrest among Spain's poverty-stricken masses, also has been for reforms and had warned the government that it had "responsibilites toward the people."

May Renounce Rights to Throne

The Count and Countess of Barcelona—he is Don Juan, pretender to the Spanish throne—walk through the Scottish countryside last August during a grouse shooting holiday at Perthshire. Rumors circulated in Madrid July 19 that the exiled pretender may renounce rights to the throne in favor of his son, Don Carlos, 13, if Generalissimo Franco will allow the boy to be crowned under a regency. Franco set up a new government July 19 in a move for better relations with the west and for returning a king to the throne. (AP Wirephoto)

50 Nations Are Asked To Jap Treaty Signing

Russia Expected to Reject Bid to Attend San Francisco Parley September 4 to Complete Action

Washington, July 20 (AP)—The United States today invited 50 nations to meet in San Francisco, Sept. 4, to complete and sign a peace treaty with Japan.

The invitations were accompanied by copies of a treaty draft jointly sponsored by the United States and Great Britain. The invitations specified the conferences would be held "on the terms of" that draft.

Russia was among the countries invited but officials here regarded it as virtually certain that Moscow would reject the bid. The Soviet Union has sharply criticized not only some parts of the proposed treaty, but also the way it was drawn up.

Russia had wanted a drafting system which would give it a veto over treaty provisions.

The treaty, as presently drafted, does not recognize Russia's possession of the Kurile Islands or the south half of Sakhalin taken from Japan after World War. 2.

The official announcement reminded each country that the peace treaty text had been circulated to all prior to issuance of the conference bids and added:

Draft Gives All Views

"It is believed that the enclosed draft treaty and declarations combine and reconcile as far as it is practicable, the point of view of all the allied powers which were at war with Japan and will establish, with Japan, a just and durable peace."

However, the U. S. and British Government declared themselves ready to receive further comments on the treaty draft, which was made public earlier this month. They said that after these are received they would circulate "a final text" on August 13.

As for the meeting in San Francisco, each nation was notified that all of the countries at war with Japan are being invited "except where special circumstances exist."

This was a reference to China. The United States and Britain agreed not to invite China since the U. S. recognizes the Chinese Nationalist Government and Britain the Communist Government.

May Make Special Treaty

Instead Japan will be given authority to make a special treaty with whichever Chinese government it chooses, and the Washing-

Natural Gas Ban Would Ruin House Heating Industry

Appliance Spokesman Asks PAD Assistance to Obtain More Steel for Pipelines

Washington, July 20 (AP)—A spokesman for the gas appliance industry has warned that a proposed government ban on some uses of natural gas "would bring the house heating industry to the verge of ruin."

The ban has been proposed by the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) in view of what it terms shortages of steel for pipelines. It would prohibit the use of natural gas for new house heating and industrial installations in some areas of the country.

Lyle C. Harvey, chairman of the Government Affairs Committee of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, urged yesterday the PAD to concentrate instead on helping the gas industry get more steel for pipelines.

Harvey appeared before a PAD hearing on the proposed gas ban.

"Evan as a proposal," he said, "the PAD plan already has had a damaging effect on the nation's sixth largest industry. Its effect will be ruinous to many thousands of people engaged in the production, distribution, retailing and servicing of gas appliances and equipment."

C. P. Rather, assistant deputy petroleum administrator, assured the industry spokesman that any order issued would be temporary, only for the emergency situation.

"No one is trying to set up a super-regulatory body", Rather said.

No Order Until Monday

He added that no order would

Crucial Eighth Meeting Of Cease-Fire Deferred By Rain-Swollen Creek

Demand for Withdrawal of All Foreign Troops From Korea Bars Agreement

Repair Stream

U. S. Army Engineers Labor to Bridge the Crossing

Munsan, Korea, July 20 (AP)—The Korean armistice talks, focus of world hopes for peace, took a back seat today to the weather.

A flash flood turned a creek 10 miles south of the Kaesong conference site into a raging torrent and barred jeeps carrying United Nation delegates to the truce city.

Twenty newsmen and service personnel who crossed the stream before it became impassable reached Kaesong. They returned in late afternoon after the flood waters subsided.

Bad weather also grounded the helicopters in which UN delegates usually travel the 14 air-line miles to Kaesong.

The eighth session between UN and Communist teams—generally regarded as crucial in this first phase of the peace talks—was postponed until 10 a. m. tomorrow (7 p. m., EST, Friday).

A single major issue bars agreement on an agenda which would permit the armistice talks to move into the second phase.

While there has been official silence at the UN advance camp here, both Communist and high United States sources have made clear that the knot was tied by Red demands for withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea.

Communist radios in Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital, Peiping and Moscow have dinned this theme.

And in Washington, U. S. Secretary of State Acheson said a UN force "must remain in Korea until a genuine peace has been firmly established."

Acheson in a statement confirmed that "the Communist delegation at Keasong has raised the question of the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea in connection with an armistice." He added:

"The United Nations command delegation has stated that it cannot go into this question, which is political * * * and can only be settled by the United Nations and the governments concerned."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, returned to Korea yesterday from Tokyo after the Kaesong meeting broke up so abruptly. He flew to Tokyo last night.

Sees Agreement

A UN spokesman told newsmen after the close of Thursday's brief seventh "no progress" session:

"I think we will come to an agreement (at the next meeting) or there will be an air of finality about the disagreement."

The fact that only one issue bars an acceptable agenda indicated that the two delegations had found agreement on such questions as the significance of Parallel 38 separating North and South Korea; exchange of prisoners; creation of a buffer zone; effective time of a cease-fire order, and possibly the supervision of enemy territory by neutral groups during the cease-fire.

Such agreement on agenda items would mean only that the opposing parties have agreed on that to talk about, not settled the issues.

While armistice delegations remained in their separate camps, U. S. Army engineers labored to repair the stream crossing so there could be no repetition of Friday's awkward delay.

Other officers, taking no chances, scouted around for

Ten Known Dead In Storms Along Eastern Seaboard

Six Men Were Killed By Lightning Bolts; Heavy Damage to Farm Crops

(By The Associated Press)

Wind, rain and lightning whipped the eastern seaboard yesterday causing at least ten deaths and heavy damage to property and farm crops.

Six men were killed by lightning bolts, two in New Jersey, two in Connecticut and two in West Virginia. In addition, two plasterers were crushed to death on Long Island by a cement roof which collapsed when lightning struck the building. Wind ripped planking from a barge on Long Island Sound, fatally injuring one man; another man died in a New Jersey traffic collision attributed to the storm.

A thousand telephone lines were down in New Jersey, acres of tobacco flattened in Connecticut. Wheat, oat, corn and rye crops were seriously damaged in several eastern states by winds of gale force. Eight roofs were ripped off houses in Camden, N. J. At Philadelphia, a hospital chimney toppled into the women's surgical ward, injuring four patients.

South of Richmond, Va., an Eastern Airlines plane with 53 aboard was forced down by a violent storm. It landed safely on a farm.

Hail stones the size of marbles fell in many areas, and torrential rains and flash floods cut off railroads and highways, washed out bridges and, stalled or delayed New York subways.

Gusts of winds up to 60 miles an hour were reported from Schenectady, N. Y., and up to 52 miles an hour—hurricane force if they had been sustained—from parts of Pennsylvania.

The Weather Bureau blamed a low pressure area southeast of Canada's Hudson Bay for the havoc. Fair skies were predicted for today, with cooler and less humid weather in the northeast.

Kaiser's Eldest Son Dead at 69

Hechingen, Germany, July 20 (AP)—Imperial Germany's last crown prince—Friederich Wilhelm of Hohenzollern—died at his little villa here last night after a long illness. He was 69.

Eldest son of Germany's last kaiser, Wilhelm II, Prince Wilhelm since World War II had lived in near seclusion here within sight of a hilltop Hohenzollern castle which he could not afford to run.

In World War I he was in nominal charge—with general staff experts constantly at his elbow—of the German army in the bloody carnage of Verdun. After the heroic French stand had stemmed the German offensive, he was kicked upstairs to command of an army group.

He followed his abdicating father into exile in Holland, remaining there five years. Allowed back in Germany in 1923, he settled down to managing the vast Hohenzollern estates. Russian occupation after World War II took most of them from him.

Slight Damage Is Caused in Area By Flash Storms

Engineer's Office Says Rainfall During Four Hour Period One of Heaviest

A series of flash storms yesterday caused brief flood conditions and other slight damage in the area.

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., reported only slight scattered damage in the city and county and the telephone company said it experienced no more than the usual "slight rain damage."

The police department recorded seven reports of slight damage in the city from 4:15 until 7 p. m., in scattered areas of the city.

1.3 Inches Recorded

A rainfall of 1.3 inches recorded by the city engineer's office in the city was reported as not the heaviest but one of the heaviest on record for a period of about four hours.

The New York city water department reported a rainfall of 1.90 inches at Brown Station from 9 a. m. yesterday until the same time today, but its report for Westkill, Greene county showed a total of 2.25 inches during the same time. The rainfall at Prattsville was 1.47 inches and at Tannersville 1.92 inches.

No Serious Trouble

Central Hudson said transformers were burned out in scattered areas, and there was some other slight damage but "no serious trouble."

The rain made a virtual stream of lower Broadway for the first several minutes of the heavy storm yesterday afternoon and reports to police indicated slight flood conditions in other sections of the city.

Slight Damage

The first police report at 4:15 p. m., said water flooded the street in front of the Bowlatorium on Grand street and the large limb of a tree was down near 77 West Chestnut street.

Other reports said the rain was washing "all kinds of debris" from a bank near 251 Abeel street, and

Highland Man Held As Auto-Stripper

New York, July 20 (AP)—Julius Helfand, assistant district attorney of Kings county, announced last night the break up of a car-stripping ring which, he said, produced stolen accessories "to order." Three men were seized.

Helfand identified those held as Arthur Jones, 51, a Negro; Andrew Carillo, 38, a garage keeper, both of Brooklyn; and Ernest Kreth, a longshoreman, of Highland, N. Y.

Helfand said the three admitted looting 200 cars in Brooklyn during the past six months. Tires, tubes, clocks, radios, and clothing taken from the cars had brought them from $30,000 to $40,000, he said.

Helfand described Jones as the "stealer" who produced particular parts to the specifications of "customers." Carillo stored the goods for the ring, and Kreth disposed of them, Helfand said.

Jones was charged with grand larceny, the other two with receiving stolen property.

300 Tons of Garbage Pile Up Before Homes

West Hempstead, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—An estimated 300 tons of garbage has piled up before the homes of 70,000 persons in five Long Island communities in a five-day strike of garbage truck drivers and helpers. The walkout involves pay and other demands.

Some householders were trying to dispose of the refuse themselves.

Dr. Erle G. Brown, Nassau county health commissioner, advised against burning because it would make disagreeable odors in the area.

He suggested two disposal methods: Either place it in cartons and spray it with a five per cent solution of DDT, or bury it at least two feet deep.

The Health Department said the refuse is "not yet a health menace."

Lightning Is Blamed

A short circuit in wiring at the home of David Smith, 14 Hillcrest avenue yesterday was believed due to lightning. Firemen were called at 3:50 p. m., and reported no damage other than a blown fuse. Another call at 9:21 p. m., was to the home of Richard Terpening, 219 East Chester street where a blaze in the laundry room destroyed a clothes basket.

Plans Are Discussed For Air Warden Work

Aldermen and supervisors of the city attended a session in the city hall last night as a step toward building up effective air warden action in the event of a local emergency.

Most wards of the city were represented and Thomas Saccoman, air warden chief, presented the group of aldermen and supervisors and others who attended with maps and plans to be used by leaders of each ward to aid in block by block coverage of the city when needed.

The aldermen and supervisors are assisting in the recruiting of air wardens. Sherwood E. Davis, local director of civilian defense also attended last night's session.

Killing of King Abdullah Promises New Difficulties

Local Woman Hurt In 9W Accident

Mrs. Sophie Wiegert Is in Good Condition; Child Injured

Mrs. Sophie Wiegert, 34, of of Kingston was admitted to the Kingston Hospital Thursday night following an accident on Route 9-W near the Lake Katrine Cabins in which the car operated by Noah Burger, 65, of 23 Van Buren street, and a truck operated by Robert Van Etten, 45 Prospect street, were involved. Today Gertrude Burger, nine months old, was admitted to the hospital for treatment of injuries, the hospital reported. Burger was not admitted to the hospital nor was Frederick Burger, age four years, who also was involved in the accident.

State Police at Lake Katrine were called to the scene about 10:30 o'clock to investigate the collision. Troopers reported both cars had been traveling south on the highway when the Burger car was struck in the rear, driving it across the road and into the Lake Katrine Cabin Garage. When the car came to rest it was reported by troopers to be almost completely inside the building.

No arrest was made.

At the hospital today the condition of Mrs. Wiegert was reported as good.

Plans Clemency Hearing

Albany, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Governor Dewey will hold a clemency hearing Aug. 16 for Bernard Stein, 34, scheduled to die in the electric chair for holdup slaying of a New York city bar patron.

Jordan Leader, 69, Shot Entering Mosque; Placed on Throne After Last War

Cairo, July 20 (AP)—King Abdullah of Jordan was assassinated today as he was entering a mosque in Jerusalem.

The killing promised new difficulties in the Middle East for Britain, already harried by the Iranian oil crisis. The British put Abdullah on the Jordan throne after World War 2 and supplied funds to his government and its strong Arab legion.

Abdullah, 69, was shot and killed at the entrance of the Aqsa mosque in the old city of Jerusalem, the British Foreign Office said. The government radio Atmman, in announcing the death of the bearded leader, said Abdullah's second son, 35-year-old Prince Naif, has been named temporarily as Prince Regent. The crown prince, Tallal, 40, has been under treatment for a nervous disorder.

Mullahs (Moslem priests) chanted verses of the Mohammedan Koran over the Amman radio in mourning as soon as the news was announced. Friday is the Moslem Sabbath.

The king claimed direct descent from the family of the prophet Mohammed.

Assassin Also Killed

The British Foreign Office said the assassin was identified as Mustafa Shakir. He was said to have been shot dead.

Abdullah's violent death ended a reign marked by strife. The king wore a silver dagger always at his belt but presided over his country with oriental serenity.

A turbaned, little man swathed in flowing robes, Abdullah was constantly a thorn in the side of other Arab rulers because of his independence. A staunch friend of the British who brought him to power and subsidized his strategically situated country, he often elected to play a lone hand in the complex politics of the Middle East.

Abdullah joined with the other Arab states when they made war upon the budding state of Israel in May, 1948, a war which lasted a year and never officially has ended in a peace settlement. He emerged from the war with a large slice of what had been Palestine, including the old Shrine area in the walled city of Jerusalem and the city of Jericho, storied in the Bible.

Last Monday in Amman Riad El Solh, foreign minister of Lebanon was killed by Syrian Nationalists. The act touched off riots in Lebanon, where Solh was a leading political figure. He had long been an opponent of Abdullah's greater Syria ambitions.

Captain W. T. Roedell Retires From Force

The Board of Police Commissioners Thursday approved the retirement of Capt. William T. Roedell, appointed Special Officer Meyer Levy as a regular patrolman effective as of today and accepted the resignation of Henry Ronnenberg as a special officer.

A second appointment to the department was delayed pending a study of candidates on the eligibility list and probably will be made at the next regular meeting the date of which was advanced to August 9. A special officer is expected to be appointed soon to replace Ronnenberg.

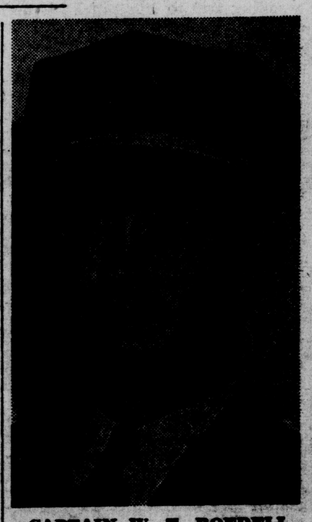

The retirement of Capt. Roedell, who suffered a heart attack last Christmas, is on a disability basis. It will be effective August 12.

In his application for retirement Capt. Roedell thanked Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and members of the board "for the courtesies extended to me during my illness," and he expressed "deep regret that illness compels me to sever my connection with the Kingston Police Department where since 1921 I have served to the very best of my ability as patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant and captain."

Capt. Roedell joined the police force on May 29, 1921, the same day as Chief Raymond VanBuren. He was appointed sergeant on April 1, 1940, was advanced to lieutenant on November 1, 1946 and became captain on August 30, 1948.

Kingston Post Commander

Known for his interest and energy in any undertaking, Roedell achieved the greatest record of any commander of the Kingston Post, American Legion, which he headed in 1936-37. The post gained its greatest membership during his time in office, and as chairman of the committee to promote the annual Armistice Day ball, he brought to Kingston some of the nation's top dance orchestras including Charlie Barnett and Jan Sabitt.

CAPTAIN W. T. ROEDELL

As head of the Kingston Patrolmen's Association about 12 years ago he was responsible for bringing Rudy Vallee and his orchestra to the city for the annual police ball. He was closely associated with Nate Abramson, theatrical producer and manager of Radio Station WOR.

Roedell's drive was also applied to his job as a police official and he was outstandingly effective in the solution of several important

Eastern Missouri in Line For Last Great Flood Blow

St. Louis, July 20 (AP)—The crest of the Missouri river surged through eastern Missouri today for its final great blow of the nation's first billion dollar flood.

More flood barriers crumpled as the Missouri emptied its heavy load into the overflowing Mississippi at their junction 15 miles north of St. Louis.

St. Louis and nearby communities expected the highest flood mark since 1844.

Waters of the Missouri and Kansas rivers left wreckage and ruin across western Missouri and eastern Kansas last week. The giant cleanup task in those areas was just beginning.

Although the Mississippi is expected to reach 40½ feet at St. Louis Monday, damage in the city probably will be confined mainly to the riverfront section as it was in the 1947 flood.

Only a small part of the city's industry is situated in the vulnerable area.

Expect Dikes to Hold

The mammoth dikes on down the Mississippi from St. Louis are reported in better condition than they were in 1947, when the waters went to 40.2 feet here. Army engineers say they are expected to hold.

President Truman said in Washington that flood damage in the midwest is now estimated at well over $1,000,000,000. This would include personal, industrial and agricultural damage.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was designated by the President to direct and coordi-

Reversal of House Action On Controls Bill Planned

Washington, July 20 (AP)—Administration leaders, bracing for new blows at their battered economic controls bill, planned today to try to reverse a House action freezing price and wage ceilings at July 7th levels for four months.

President Truman entered the controls debate again, telling a Massachusetts housewife that "big paid lobbyists" may succeed in scuttling the economic controls bill for the time being, but that if they do "we will just make a new start and try again."

"Though the special interests may have a triumph now and then," he wrote, "the people's interest is sure to triumph in the end."

The President's letter, as released by the White House, was not dated. But it was evident it was written before yesterday's House action.

The wage-price freeze amendment, tentatively put into the bill yesterday by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats, left a welter of confusing interpretations in its wake as members endeavored to learn all its implications.

Uncertain of Success

Charging it would kill price controls, administration leaders said they hoped to reverse the House decision when the time comes for a final rollcall vote—possibly tomorrow, perhaps not until next week. They were frankly uncertain of success.

"It depends how strongly some

Expect Dikes to Hold

The mammoth dikes on down the Mississippi from St. Louis are reported in better condition than they were in 1947, when the waters went to 40.2 feet here. Army engineers say they are expected to hold.

President Truman said in Washington that flood damage in the midwest is now estimated at well over $1,000,000,000. This would include personal, industrial and agricultural damage.

Defense Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson was designated by the President to direct and coordi-

50 Nations Are Asked To Jap Treaty Signing

Russia Expected to Reject Bid to Attend San Francisco Parley September 4 to Complete Action

Washington, July 20 (AP)—The United States today invited 50 nations to meet in San Francisco, Sept. 4, to complete and sign a peace treaty with Japan.

The invitations were accompanied by copies of a treaty draft jointly sponsored by the United States and Great Britain. The invitations specified the conferences would be held "on the terms of" that draft.

Russia was among the countries invited but officials here regarded it as virtually certain that Moscow would reject the bid. The Soviet Union has sharply criticized not only some parts of the proposed treaty, but also the way it was drawn up.

Russia had wanted a drafting system which would give it a veto over treaty provisions.

The treaty, as presently drafted, does not recognize Russia's possession of the Kurile Islands or the south half of Sakhalin taken from Japan after World War. 2.

The official announcement reminded each country that the peace treaty text had been circulated to all prior to issuance of the conference bids and added:

Draft Gives All Views

"It is believed that the enclosed draft treaty and declarations combine and reconcile as far as it is practicable, the point of view of all the allied powers which were at war with Japan and will establish, with Japan, a just and durable peace."

However, the U. S. and British Government declared themselves ready to receive further comments on the treaty draft, which was made public earlier this month. They said that after these are received they would circulate "a final text" on August 13.

As for the meeting in San Francisco, each nation was notified that all of the countries at war with Japan are being invited "except where special circumstances exist."

This was a reference to China. The United States and Britain agreed not to invite China since the U. S. recognizes the Chinese Nationalist Government and Britain the Communist Government.

May Make Special Treaty

Instead Japan will be given authority to make a special treaty with whichever Chinese government it chooses, and the Washing-

Natural Gas Ban Would Ruin House Heating Industry

Appliance Spokesman Asks PAD Assistance to Obtain More Steel for Pipelines

Washington, July 20 (AP)—A spokesman for the gas appliance industry has warned that a proposed government ban on some uses of natural gas "would bring the house heating industry to the verge of ruin."

The ban has been proposed by the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) in view of what it terms shortages of steel for pipelines. It would prohibit the use of natural gas for new house heating and industrial installations in some areas of the country.

Lyle C. Harvey, chairman of the Government Affairs Committee of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, urged yesterday the PAD to concentrate instead on helping the gas industry get more steel for pipelines.

Harvey appeared before a PAD hearing on the proposed gas ban.

"Evan as a proposal," he said, "the PAD plan already has had a damaging effect on the nation's sixth largest industry. Its effect will be ruinous to many thousands of people engaged in the production, distribution, retailing and servicing of gas appliances and equipment."

C. P. Rather, assistant deputy petroleum administrator, assured the industry spokesman that any order issued would be temporary, only for the emergency situation.

"No one is trying to set up a super-regulatory body", Rather said.

No Order Until Monday

He added that no order would

Plans Are Discussed For Air Warden Work

Aldermen and supervisors of the city attended a session in the city hall last night as a step toward building up effective air warden action in the event of a local emergency.

Most wards of the city were represented and Thomas Saccoman, air warden chief, presented the group of aldermen and supervisors and others who attended with maps and plans to be used by leaders of each ward to aid in block by block coverage of the city when needed.

The aldermen and supervisors are assisting in the recruiting of air wardens. Sherwood E. Davis, local director of civilian defense also attended last night's session.

Captain W. T. Roedell Retires From Force

The Board of Police Commissioners Thursday approved the retirement of Capt. William T. Roedell, appointed Special Officer Meyer Levy as a regular patrolman effective as of today and accepted the resignation of Henry Ronnenberg as a special officer.

A second appointment to the department was delayed pending a study of candidates on the eligibility list and probably will be made at the next regular meeting the date of which was advanced to August 9. A special officer is expected to be appointed soon to replace Ronnenberg.

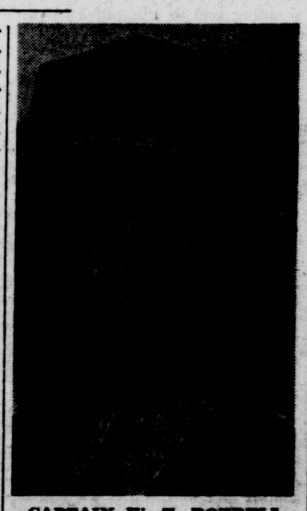

The retirement of Capt. Roedell, who suffered a heart attack last Christmas, is on a disability basis. It will be effective August 12.

In his application for retirement Capt. Roedell thanked Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and members of the board "for the courtesies extended to me during my illness," and he expressed "deep regret that illness compels me to sever my connection with the Kingston Police Department where since 1921 I have served to the very best of my ability as patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant and captain."

Capt. Roedell joined the police force on May 29, 1921, the same day as Chief Raymond VanBuren. He was appointed sergeant on April 1, 1940, was advanced to lieutenant on November 1, 1946 and became captain on August 30, 1948.

Crucial Eighth Meeting Of Cease-Fire Deferred By Rain-Swollen Creek

Demand for Withdrawal of All Foreign Troops From Korea Bars Agreement

Repair Stream

U. S. Army Engineers Labor to Bridge the Crossing

Munsan, Korea, July 20 (AP)—The Korean armistice talks, focus of world hopes for peace, took a back seat today to the weather.

A flash flood turned a creek 10 miles south of the Kaesong conference site into a raging torrent and barred jeeps carrying United Nation delegates to the truce city.

Twenty newsmen and service personnel who crossed the stream before it became impassable reached Kaesong. They returned in late afternoon after the flood waters subsided.

Bad weather also grounded the helicopters in which UN delegates usually travel the 14 airline miles to Kaesong.

The eighth session between UN and Communist teams—generally regarded as crucial in this first phase of the peace talks—was postponed until 10 a. m. tomorrow (7 p. m., EST, Friday).

A single major issue bars agreement on an agenda which would permit the armistice talks to move into the second phase.

While there has been official silence at the UN advance camp here, both Communist and high United States sources have made clear that the knot was tied by Red demands for withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea.

Communist radios in Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital, Peiping and Moscow have dinned this theme.

And in Washington, U. S. Secretary of State Acheson said a UN force "must remain in Korea until a genuine peace has been firmly established."

Acheson in a statement confirmed that "the Communist delegation at Keasong has raised the question of the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Korea in connection with an armistice." He added:

"The United Nations command delegation has stated that it cannot go into this question, which is political • • • and can only be settled by the United Nations and the governments concerned."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, supreme allied commander, returned to Korea yesterday from Tokyo after the Kaesong meeting broke up so abruptly. He flew to Tokyo last night.

Sees Agreement

A UN spokesman told newsmen after the close of Thursday's brief seventh "no progress" session:

"I think we will come to an agreement (at the next meeting) or there will be an air of finality about the disagreement."

The fact that only one issue bars an acceptable agenda indicated that the two delegations had found agreement on such questions as the significance of Parallel 38 separating North and South Korea; exchange of prisoners; creation of a buffer zone; effective time of a cease-fire order, and possibly the supervision of enemy territory by neutral groups during the cease-fire.

Such agreement on agenda items would mean only that the opposing parties have agreed on that to talk about, not settled the issues.

While armistice delegations remained in their separate camps, U. S. Army engineers labored to repair the stream crossing so there could be no repetition of Friday's awkward delay.

Other officers, taking no chances, scouted around for

Ten Known Dead In Storms Along Eastern Seaboard

Six Men Were Killed By Lightning Bolts; Heavy Damage to Farm Crops

(By The Associated Press)

Wind, rain and lightning whipped the eastern seaboard yesterday causing at least ten deaths and heavy damage to property and farm crops.

Six men were killed by lightning bolts, two in New Jersey, two in Connecticut and two in West Virginia. In addition, two plasterers were crushed to death on Long Island by a cement roof which collapsed when lightning struck the building. Wind ripped planking from a barge on Long Island Sound, fatally injuring one man; another man died in a New Jersey traffic collision attributed to the storm.

A thousand telephone lines were down in New Jersey, acres of tobacco flattened in Connecticut. Wheat, oat, corn and rye crops were seriously damaged in several eastern states by winds of gale force. Eight roofs were ripped off houses in Camden, N. J. At Philadelphia, a hospital chimney toppled into the women's surgical ward, injuring four patients.

South of Richmond, Va., an Eastern Airlines plane with 53 aboard was forced down by a violent storm. It landed safely on a farm.

Hail stones the size of marbles fell in many areas, and torrential rains and flash floods cut off railroads and highways, washed out bridges and, stalled or delayed New York subways.

Gusts of winds up to 60 miles an hour were reported from Schenectady, N. Y., and up to 82 miles an hour—hurricane force if they had been sustained—from parts of Pennsylvania.

The Weather Bureau blamed a low pressure area southeast of Canada's Hudson Bay for the havoc. Fair skies were predicted for today, with cooler and less humid weather in the northeast.

Highland Man Held As Auto-Stripper

New York, July 20 (AP)—Julius Helfand, assistant district attorney of Kings county, announced last night the break up of a car-stripping ring which, he said, produced stolen accessories "to order." Three men were seized.

Helfand identified those held as Arthur Jones, 51, a Negro; Andrew Carillo, 38, a garage keeper, both of Brooklyn; and Ernest Kreth, a longshoreman, of Highland, N. Y.

Helfand said the three admitted looting 200 cars in Brooklyn during the past six months. Tires, tubes, clocks, radios, and clothing taken from the cars had brought them from $30,000 to $40,000, he said.

Helfand described Jones as the "stealer" who produced particular parts to the specifications of "customers." Carillo stored the goods for the ring, and Kreth disposed of them, Helfand said.

Jones was charged with grand larceny, the other two with receiving stolen property.

300 Tons of Garbage Pile Up Before Homes

West Hempstead, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—An estimated 300 tons of garbage has piled up before the homes of 70,000 persons in five Long Island communities in a five-day strike of garbage truck drivers and helpers. The walkout involves pay and other demands.

Some householders were trying to dispose of the refuse themselves.

Dr. Erle G. Brown, Nassau county health commissioner, advised against burning because it would make disagreeable odors in the area.

He suggested two disposal methods: Either place it in cartons and spray it with a five per cent solution of DDT, or bury it at least two feet deep.

The Health Department said the refuse is "not yet a health menace."

Lightning Is Blamed

A short circuit in wiring at the home of David Smith, 14 Hillcrest avenue yesterday was believed due to lightning. Firemen were called at 3:50 p. m., and reported no damage other than a blown fuse. Another call at 9:21 p. m., was to the home of Richard Terpening, 219 East Chester street where a blaze in the laundry room destroyed a clothes basket.

Kaiser's Eldest Son Dead at 69

Hechingen, Germany, July 20 (AP)—Imperial Germany's last crown prince—Friederich Wilhelm of Hohenzollern—died at his little villa here last night after a long illness. He was 69.

Eldest son of Germany's last kaiser, Wilhelm II, Prince Wilhelm since World War II had lived in near seclusion here within sight of a hilltop Hohenzollern castle which he could not afford to run.

In World War I he was in nominal charge—with general staff experts constantly at his elbow—of the German army in the bloody carnage of Verdun. After the heroic French stand had stemmed the German offensive, he was kicked upstairs to command of an army group.

He followed his abdicating father into exile in Holland, remaining there five years. Allowed back in Germany in 1923, he settled down to managing the vast Hohenzollern estates. Russian occupation after World War II took most of them from him.

Slight Damage Is Caused in Area By Flash Storms

Engineer's Office Says Rainfall During Four Hour Period One of Heaviest

A series of flash storms yesterday caused brief flood conditions and other slight damage in the area.

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., reported only slight scattered damage in the city and county and the telephone company said it experienced no more than the usual "slight rain damage."

The police department recorded seven reports of slight damage in the city from 4:15 until 7 p. m., in scattered areas of the city.

1.3 Inches Recorded

A rainfall of 1.3 inches recorded by the city engineer's office in the city was reported as not the heaviest but one of the heaviest on record for a period of about four hours.

The New York city water department reported a rainfall of 1.90 inches at Brown Station from 9 a. m. yesterday until the same time today, but its report for Westkill, Greene county showed a total of 2.25 inches during the same time. The rainfall at Prattsville was 1.47 inches and at Tannersville 1.92 inches.

No Serious Trouble

Central Hudson said transformers were burned out in scattered areas, and there was some other slight damage but "no serious trouble."

The rain made a virtual stream of lower Broadway for the first several minutes of the heavy storm yesterday afternoon and reports to police indicated slight flood conditions in other sections of the city.

Slight Damage

The first police report at 4:15 p. m., said water flooded the street in front of the Bowlatprium on Grand street and the large limb of a tree was down near 77 West Chestnut street.

Other reports said the rain was washing "all kinds of debris" from a bank near 251 Abeel street, and

Reversal of House Action On Controls Bill Planned

Washington, July 20 (AP)—Administration leaders, bracing for new blows at their battered economic controls bill, planned today to try to reverse a House action freezing price and wage ceilings at July 7th levels for four months.

President Truman entered the controls debate again, telling a Massachusetts housewife that "big paid lobbyists" may succeed in scuttling the economic controls bill for the time being, but that if they do "we will just make a new start and try again."

"Though the special interests may have a triumph now and then," he wrote, "the people's interest is sure to triumph in the end."

The President's letter, as released by the White House, was not dated. But it was evident it was written before yesterday's House action.

The wage-price freeze amendment, tentatively put into the bill yesterday by a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats, left a welter of confusing interpretations in its wake as members endeavored to learn all its implications.

Uncertain of Success

Charging it would kill price controls, administration leaders said they hoped to reverse the House decision when the time comes for a final rollcall vote—possibly tomorrow, perhaps not until next week. They were frankly uncertain of success.

"It depends how strongly some

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Quartet Opening Warmly Received

Woodstock, July 20—A near capacity at the Town Hall gave a warm reception Thursday night to the Woodstock String Quartet and guest artist Joseph Wolman, pianist, in their first concert of the season.

The quartet presented an identical program for the Kingston opening Wednesday night at St. James Methodist Church.

Playing as one in the Haydn String Quartet, Sidney Harth, violinist, Teresa Testa, violinist, Carolyn Voigt, violist, and Engelbert Roentgen, cellist, gave cohesion to the work. Known familiarly as the Bird Quartet, owing to the violin duet in the middle passage of the second movement, the first movement, the gay Allegro Moderato was played with delicacy of touch. Breaking from tradition, the composition is the only quartet in which the scherzo replaces the minuet in the second movement which is quiet and restrained with the violin duet in the middle part which was charmingly played Thursday night. The bright and cheerful Finale was in contrast to the Adagio of the third, and was handled with a crisp technique to the surprise ending.

Wolman Brilliant

Wolman's piano selections were a brilliant contribution—the somber meditation of the Bach, Busoni Choral — Prelude, the emotional and romantic Schumann Intermezzo-Novelette, the liquid running passages and grandiose style of the Chopin Polonaise, and the First and Second Preludes by Gershwin, which were played as encores.

Stormy and forceful in character, swept by lilting harmonies in the first movement the Sonata for two violins, by the Hungarian composer, Rozsa featured Miss Testa and Harth. The Lento Assai movement introduced a plaintive melody brightening considerably in the middle section with a return to the first theme ending on a high harmonic. The final Vivo E Giocoso contained a Magyar melody throughout with a dance like quality adding to the energetic contents of the work as a whole.

Seldom played, the Dvorak Quartet for piano, violin and cello, is Brahms in character and features a unique duet between piano and strings. The Allegro Moderato, Grazioso was a delightful movement, gracious in style with a sudden ripple in the pleasant association, to return once again to the sunny mood. Truly Hungarian in content, the Allegro Ma Non Troppo brought the concert to a notable conclusion.

Tuck Returns From Arizona Film Tour

Woodstock, July 20—Bill Tuck, well-known photographer, has returned to this village after an absence of almost two years which were spent in Arizona where he photographed a number of national picture stories. Tuck is perhaps best known here for his unique postraits of children and for the color photographs of the first Woodstock Christmas celebration on the green two years ago which appeared in the special Christmas issue of Collier's last December.

Tuck will now be associated with Brentwood Portraits, formerly located in the Burgevine building at the corner of Main and Fair streets, Kingston, which is removing to 642 Broadway, near Henry street.

During his sojourn in Arizona Tuck did the color photographs for an article by the well-known western writer, Oren Arnold, which appeared in Collier's, entitled "Sisters in the Saddle." He also has taken pictures of a Japanese stock garden in South Mountain, Ariz., to appear in the same magazine next spring. Two of his picture stories on watermelons have appeared in the Farm Journal and Ford Truck Times, a Ford Motor Company magazine.

In the portrait line, he did the cover for The Ladies Home Journal for the May issue this year of what he terms "the undiscovered beauties," the only one from the state of Arizona. It will go on display at Deanies Friday.

He also has worked in conjunction with John Broderick, a former Associated Press man, on a buffalo story in Flagstaff, Ariz.

Price-Control Rally Set at Newburgh

Plattsburgh, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—The Democratic state chairman, urging grass-roots support for President Truman's price-control program, calls it "the only way to assure fair distribution.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo sounded this keynote last night at the first of five rallies scheduled by the Democratic State Committee. The second is slated tonight at Newburgh.

Fitzpatrick urged that pressure be put on Congress to support Mr. Truman's "anti-inflation program." He called it "the only way to assure fair distribution of the things which are available."

Fitzpatrick charged that "Dixiecrats and Republicans have voted a bloc against almost every constructive measure designed to strengthen our price-control setup."

Three Are Arrested On Narcotics Charges

New York, July 20 (AP)—Manuel Montinez, 26, of 787 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, and Louis Soto, 21-year-old metal worker, of 775 Union avenue, the Bronx, were charged by police today with selling narcotics.

Police said Montinez sold four capsules to Detective William Toub of the narcotics squad last Tuesday.

When Toub returned to the scene of the sale, the intersection of 156th street and Jackson avenue, the Bronx, last night, Montinez told him he had no heroin with him, but referred him to Soto, a short distance away, who made a similar sale, police said.

The two men were arrested by colleagues of Toub who had followed unobtrusively at a distance.

Angel Louis Oquendo, 23, of 923 Fox street, the Bronx, who happened to be standing nearby, was searched by the detective on the grounds he behaved suspiciously. They reported they found two marihuana cigarettes on him. They took him to the Morrisania station along with Montinez and Soto, and booked him on a charge of possessing narcotics.

lah, ruler of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, was the second son of the late Hussein, Sherif (ruler) of Hejaz. His elder brother was Feisal, King of Syria, deposed by the French. The two were comrades in arms with Lawrence of Arabia in the Arab revolt against the Turks. Before the French left Syria, Abdullah was intent upon armed invasion of that country to restore his brother to the throne, but this never came off.

Born in Mecca

Abdullah was born in Mecca, holy city of the Moslems, and claimed 39th generation descent from Mohammed. He grew up at the Court of the Turkish tyrant, Abdul Hamid, in Constantinople (now Istanbul), held as a hostage for the good behavior of his rebellious father. He was active in his youth behind the scenes of the anti-Turkish movements which marked the declining days of the Ottoman Empire. His passion was Arab Nationalism; his goal, to increase the power and the sway of the Hashemite family.

Natural Gas Ban

be issued until after a meeting of Pad's Gas Industry Advisory Council next Monday, and possibly after further meetings with other groups.

About 50 representatives of the appliance and allied industries attended the meeting.

Harvey said that the proposed ban would strike a staggering blow at small business, "not only in the gas industry but in defense subcontracting operations dependent on gas."

He said it would usurp the authority of the State Public Utility Commissions and hamper the National Housing Program.

"It is no exaggeration to say that if extension of gas heating is curtailed," Harvey asserted, "some of these essential dwelling units will never be built. Many of them are in areas where the only heating facility is gas. Others are in regions where gas simply is the least costly fuel."

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, July 20—After considerable discussion at a recent special meeting, the board of education took action on two matters of importance. The policy of requiring previous experience of local teachers has been under consideration for several months and it was finally decided by resolution that applicants who received their last two years of high school training in Ellenville High School must show at least two years of successful teaching in some other school before applying here. Formerly this policy was in force here, as in other towns of this area, but was more or less overlooked during the teacher shortage in war time. The question of extra pay for extra work was also settled at this meeting. After lengthy discussion a motion was passed that the board would not pay for extra-curricular activities. It was brought out that the board believes that the local salary schedule should be high enough to permit a professional scale of living and that extra pay should not be required. In future, extra-curricular work may be more distributed among faculty members. It was noted that Monticello, Fallsburgh and Liberty do not have extra pay schedules.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Veterans Memorial Hospital the resignation of Miss Mary K. Wiseman, who has been superintendent of the hospital since May 1, 1945, was accepted with regret. Although the board has no one in mind at present to fill Miss Wiseman's position, it is hoped that this can be done within the next month or six weeks and an effort will be made to secure a superintendent who will not have nursing duties. Miss Wiseman, who is forced to resign because of ill health, has been a most successful head of the institution and has made many friends in Ellenville and the surrounding area which the hospital serves.

Miss Joyce Hook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hook, 30 Clinton avenue, and Clayton Keyes of Grayson, Ky., were married Sunday at 2 p. m., at the Methodist Church by the Rev. L. E. Garner of Napanoch. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ankle-length gown of white satin trimmed with Chantilly lace and a fingertip veil which was fastened to a head piece of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a nosegay of white roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Gerald Hook, sister-in-law of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Curtis Bush of Napanoch, Robert Towers of Ellenville and Richard Curry of Yagerville. After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada the couple will live in Yagerville. Mr. Keyes is employed at the Lackawack Dam.

The weekly concerts of Clayton's Military Band, held each Thursday at 8 p. m. on Liberty Square, are being much appreciated again this summer. Seats and benches are filled by listeners and the surrounding streets are crowded with cars.

Religious services will be held in the old Friends Meeting House, Grahamsville, Sunday, July 22 at 11 a. m., DST. George A. Badgley of Wappingers Falls will be the speaker. This annual event is always of great interest to those persons who are descendents of the early Quakers who used to worship there and of many who have moved away return each year at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Pelton of Middletown have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary H., to Philip H. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson. The bride-elect is a student at Cornell University and Mr. Davis is engaged in farming at Kerhonkson. No date has been set for the wedding.

The annual Shawangunk Garden Club card party for the benefit of the hospital planting fund was held last Wednesday at the Country Club. Bridge and pinochle were played and there were prizes for the winners at each table. About 60 attended.

A 14-year-old girl of Ulster Heights, Vivian Sheley, who is crippled, will benefit by the radio and television efforts of Mrs. Herbert Lepke and Mrs. Joseph Distle of Ulster Heights. Mrs. Lepke conceived the idea of appearing on the "Strike It Rich" show in behalf of the crippled girl. She received an invitation to appear on the show and last Friday with Mrs. Distle went to New York for the broadcast. At the conclusion of the program the sponsors awarded a wheel chair, valued at $200, to Vivian, through the efforts of Mrs. Lepke and Mrs. Distle.

Everett Coty and R. Earl Haley were elected delegates of the Ulster County American Legion committee at the annual meeting in Kingston last week to the New York State Convention which will be held in New York August 9-11. Financial and Commercial

New York, July 20 (AP)—A short-lived buying wave rolled through the stock market today and pushed prices substantially higher.

Leaders carried their gains into the $1-$2 range at the best. Some areas, however, refused to go along in the rise and held to small losses throughout.

The rush started in the second hour in air lines, spread quickly to railroads and then to aircrafts.

Going along for the ride were utilities, rubbers, oils, mining issues and building materials.

There was little or no response, however, in steels, motors, and the radio-television division.

Eastern Air Lines was the leader of its group, and others active on the upside were Northern Pacific, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Boeing.

Twentieth Century-Fox made a good showing after the announcement that it would use Columbia Broadcasting System color-television processes for its big-screen theater television shows.

General Electric was a laggard. It reported six months earnings equal to $2.44 a share as against $2.68 a year ago. Second quarter earnings amounted to $1.23 a share as compared with $1.40 a share a year ago.

The market started out on a higher note, evidently a follow-through from the strength shown in the final minutes of trading yesterday which left the market higher at the close.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

Quartet Opening Warmly Received

Woodstock, July 20—A near capacity at the Town Hall gave a warm reception Thursday night to the Woodstock String Quartet and guest artist Joseph Wolman, pianist, in their first concert of the season.

The quartet presented an identical program for the Kingston opening Wednesday night at St. James Methodist Church.

Playing as one in the Haydn String Quartet, Sidney Harth, violinist, Teresa Testa, violinist, Carolyn Voigt, violist, and Engelbert Roentgen, cellist, gave cohesion to the work. Known familiarly as the Bird Quartet, owing to the violin duet in the middle passage of the second movement, the first movement, the gay Allegro Moderato was played with delicacy of touch. Breaking from tradition, the composition is the only quartet in which the scherzo replaces the minuet in the second movement which is quiet and restrained with the violin duet in the middle part which was charmingly played Thursday night. The bright and cheerful Finale was in contrast to the Adagio of the third, and was handled with a crisp technique to the surprise ending.

Wolman Brilliant

Wolman's piano selections were a brilliant contribution—the somber meditation of the Bach, Busoni Choral — Prelude, the emotional and romantic Schumann Intermezzo-Novelette, the liquid running passages and grandiose style of the Chopin Polonaise, and the First and Second Preludes by Gershwin, which were played as encores.

Stormy and forceful in character, swept by lilting harmonies in the first movement the Sonata for two violins, by the Hungarian composer, Rozsa featured Miss Testa and Harth. The Lento Assai movement introduced a plaintive melody brightening considerably in the middle section with a return to the first theme ending on a high harmonic. The final Vivo E Giocoso contained a Magyar melody throughout with a dance like quality adding to the energetic contents of the work as a whole.

Seldom played, the Dvorak Quartet for piano, violin and cello, is Brahms in character and features a unique duet between piano and strings. The Allegro Moderato, Grazioso was a delightful movement, gracious in style with a sudden ripple in the pleasant association, to return once again to the sunny mood. Truly Hungarian in content, the Allegro Ma Non Troppo brought the concert to a notable conclusion.

Tuck Returns From Arizona Film Tour

Woodstock, July 20—Bill Tuck, well-known photographer, has returned to this village after an absence of almost two years which were spent in Arizona where he photographed a number of national picture stories. Tuck is perhaps best known here for his unique portraits of children and for the color photographs of the first Woodstock Christmas celebration on the green two years ago which appeared in the special Christmas issue of Collier's last December.

Tuck will now be associated with Brentwood Portraits, formerly located in the Burgevine building at the corner of Main and Fair streets, Kingston, which is removing to 642 Broadway, near Henry street.

During his sojourn in Arizona Tuck did the color photographs for an article by the well-known western writer, Oren Arnold, which appeared in Collier's, entitled "Sisters in the Saddle." He also has taken pictures of a Japanese stock garden in South Mountain, Ariz., to appear in the same magazine next spring. Two of his picture stories on watermelons have appeared in the Farm Journal and Ford Truck Times, a Ford Motor Company magazine.

In the portrait line, he did the cover for The Ladies Home Journal for the May issue this year of what he terms "the undiscovered beauties," the only one from the state of Arizona. It will go on display at Deanies Friday.

He also has worked in conjunction with John Broderick, a former Associated Press man, on a buffalo story in Flagstaff, Ariz.

Price-Control Rally Set at Newburgh

Plattsburgh, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—The Democratic state chairman, urging grass-roots support for President Truman's price-control program, calls it "the only way to assure fair distribution.

Paul E. Fitzpatrick of Buffalo sounded this keynote last night at the first of five rallies scheduled by the Democratic State Committee. The second is slated tonight at Newburgh.

Fitzpatrick urged that pressure be put on Congress to support Mr. Truman's "anti-inflation program." He called it "the only way to assure fair distribution of the things which are available."

Fitzpatrick charged that "Dixiecrats and Republicans have voted a bloc against almost every constructive measure designed to strengthen our price-control setup."

Three Are Arrested On Narcotics Charges

New York, July 20 (AP)—Manuel Montinez, 26, of 787 Prospect avenue, the Bronx, and Louis Soto, 21-year-old metal worker, of 775 Union avenue, the Bronx, were charged by police today with selling narcotics.

Police said Montinez sold four capsules to Detective William Toub of the narcotics squad last Tuesday.

When Toub returned to the scene of the sale, the intersection of 156th street and Jackson avenue, the Bronx, last night, Montinez told him he had no heroin with him, but referred him to Soto, a short distance away, who made a similar sale, police said.

The two men were arrested by colleagues of Toub who had followed unobtrusively at a distance.

Angel Louis Oquendo, 23, of 923 Fox street, the Bronx, who happened to be standing nearby, was searched by the detective on the grounds he behaved suspiciously. They reported they found two marihuana cigarettes on him. They took him to the Morrisania station along with Montinez and Soto, and booked him on a charge of possessing narcotics.

Killing of King

lah, ruler of the Hashemite Kingdom of Jordan, was the second son of the late Hussein, Sherif (ruler) of Hejaz. His elder brother was Feisal, King of Syria, deposed by the French. The two were comrades in arms with Lawrence of Arabia in the Arab revolt against the Turks. Before the French left Syria, Abdullah was intent upon armed invasion of that country to restore his brother to the throne, but this never came off.

Born in Mecca

Abdullah was born in Mecca, holy city of the Moslems, and claimed 39th generation descent from Mohammed. He grew up at the Court of the Turkish tyrant, Abdul Hamid, in Constantinople (now Istanbul), held as a hostage for the good behavior of his rebellious father. He was active in his youth behind the scenes of the anti-Turkish movements which marked the declining days of the Ottoman Empire. His passion was Arab Nationalism; his goal, to increase the power and the sway of the Hashemite family.

Natural Gas Ban

be issued until after a meeting of Pad's Gas Industry Advisory Council next Monday, and possibly after further meetings with other groups.

About 50 representatives of the appliance and allied industries attended the meeting.

Harvey said that the proposed ban would strike a staggering blow at small business, "not only in the gas industry but in defense subcontracting operations dependent on gas."

He said it would usurp the authority of the State Public Utility Commissions and hamper the National Housing Program.

"It is no exaggeration to say that if extension of gas heating is curtailed," Harvey asserted, "some of these essential dwelling units will never be built. Many of them are in areas where the only heating facility is gas. Others are in regions where gas simply is the least costly fuel."

A catch basin on Albany avenue and East St. James street was reported blocked or overtaxed. The report said that water concealed the curb there and several tires were blown out. The traffic light at Flatbush avenue and East Chester street was reported out of commission.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Ellenville, July 20—After considerable discussion at a recent special meeting, the board of education took action on two matters of importance. The policy of requiring previous experience of local teachers has been under consideration for several months and it was finally decided by resolution that applicants who received their last two years of high school training in Ellenville High School must show at least two years of successful teaching in some other school before applying here. Formerly this policy was in force here, as in other towns of this area, but was more or less overlooked during the teacher shortage in war time. The question of extra pay for extra work was also settled at this meeting. After lengthy discussion a motion was passed that the board would not pay for extra-curricular activities. It was brought out that the board believes that the local salary schedule should be high enough to permit a professional scale of living and that extra pay should not be required. In future, extra-curricular work may be more distributed among faculty members. It was noted that Monticello, Fallsburgh and Liberty do not have extra pay schedules.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Veterans Memorial Hospital the resignation of Miss Mary K. Wiseman, who has been superintendent of the hospital since May 1, 1945, was accepted with regret. Although the board has no one in mind at present to fill Miss Wiseman's position, it is hoped that this can be done within the next month or six weeks and an effort will be made to secure a superintendent who will not have nursing duties. Miss Wiseman, who is forced to resign because of ill health, has been a most successful head of the institution and has made many friends in Ellenville and the surrounding area which the hospital serves.

Miss Joyce Hook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hook, 30 Clinton avenue, and Clayton Keyes of Grayson, Ky., were married Sunday at 2 p. m., at the Methodist Church by the Rev. L. E. Garner of Napanoch. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ankle-length gown of white satin trimmed with Chantilly lace and a fingertip veil which was fastened to a head piece of seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a nosegay of white roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Gerald Hook, sister-in-law of the bride, was best man. The ushers were Curtis Bush of Napanoch, Robert Towers of Ellenville and Richard Curry of Yagerville. After a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada the couple will live in Yagerville. Mr. Keyes is employed at the Lackawack Dam.

The weekly concerts of Clayton's Military Band, held each Thursday at 8 p. m. on Liberty Square, are being much appreciated again this summer. Seats and benches are filled by listeners and the surrounding streets are crowded with cars.

Religious services will be held in the old Friends Meeting House, Grahamsville, Sunday, July 22 at 11 a. m., DST. George A. Badgley of Wappingers Falls will be the speaker. This annual event is always of great interest to those persons who are descendents of the early Quakers who used to worship there and of many who have moved away return each year at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Pelton of Middletown have announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary H., to Philip H. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Millard Davis of Kerhonkson. Financial and Commercial

New York, July 20 (AP)—A short-lived buying wave rolled through the stock market today and pushed prices substantially higher.

Leaders carried their gains into the $1-$2 range at the best. Some areas, however, refused to go along in the rise and held to small losses throughout.

The rush started in the second hour in air lines, spread quickly to railroads and then to aircrafts.

Going along for the ride were utilities, rubbers, oils, mining issues and building materials.

There was little or no response, however, in steels, motors, and the radio-television division.

Eastern Air Lines was the leader of its group, and others active on the upside were Northern Pacific, Standard Oil (N.J.), and Boeing.

Twentieth Century-Fox made a good showing after the announcement that it would use Columbia Broadcasting System color-television processes for its big-screen theater television shows.

General Electric was a laggard. It reported six months earnings equal to $2.44 a share as against $2.68 a year ago. Second quarter earnings amounted to $1.23 a share as compared with $1.40 a share a year ago.

The market started out on a higher note, evidently a follow-through from the strength shown in the final minutes of trading yesterday which left the market higher at the close.

Tribute to 'Pop' Fuhrman

On behalf of the members of Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, we voice a tribute to the late Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, founder of the Kingston Boys Club. Perhaps one of the hardest things a human being can do is to maintain over a long period of time a record of unselfish service to others. The light of the ideal is difficult to follow. But some do follow it, undeviatingly and gloriously to the rich benefit of those they serve. Such a man was "Pop" Fuhrman. The Kingston Boys Club has lost its able, conscientious and beloved director, the community has lost one of its foremost citizens. "Pop's" work with the youngsters of our city, in providing "a home away from home," with supervised, constructive activity, has helped in the development of good citizens. To the members of the Kingston Boys Club, saddened by the loss of their good friend, we extend our profound sympathy. To the officers and directors of the club, who are determined to continue the Boys Club, our commendation for their action. The greatest possible tribute to the memory of "Pop" Fuhrman will be the continuance of his work in striving toward a goal that every community-minded individual would like to see attained—"that no boy need seek companionship or recreation in the streets." We pledge our support in this work, and may the memory of "Pop" Fuhrman forever remain in the hearts of our citizens.

President.

He said anti-Red leaflets placed aboard ships by longshoremen in New York harbor are finding their way to longshoremen of other countries.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many folks have seen the booklet of the Ulster County Savings Institution celebrating "The First Century" as compiled by Harold S. Brigham, who collected not only interesting facts from local history but from all the world around. For instance on page 11, he states:" The first savings bank that history records was set up in the village of Ruthwell, Scotland, on May 10, 1810, by the Rev. Henry Duncan. Now coming to America from Scotland, it seems the first savings banks here were The Philadelphia Savings Fund Society and The Provident Institution for Savings, both chartered in December, 1816, in the Town of Boston, Mass.

The first chartered savings bank in our state was the Bank for Savings in the City of New York, March 26, 1819. It still does business with deposits of over a quarter of a billion dollars. Back in 1848 there were only 12 savings banks in the state. And the first savings bank in Ulster county was the Ulster County Savings Institution which received its charter, by special act of the State Legislature, April 12, 1851. And now there are some 529 mutual savings banks, with deposits exceeding 20 billion dollars.

It is interesting to note just what happens to money which is deposited in a Savings Bank instead of a sock or sugar bowl. Severyn Bruyn was the first depositor of the Ulster County Savings Institution and his bank book No. 1 is now one of the most cherished possessions of the bank shows his first deposit was $120. If he had left it until January 1, 1951, which would have given it the 255th dividend, it would have grown to $4,478.40. A handsome painting of Severyn Bruyn, by John Vanderlyn can be seen in the Senate House Museum, and is reproduced in this book.

This book contains many historical items which are new to me. For instance, in 1820 the first Bank of Kingston, a branch of the Middle District Bank of Poughkeepsie was opened, perhaps prior to that date. This bank was in a room of the old stone residence of Severyn Bruyn who was the bank's cashier, at about the present location of 19 Main street. This bank failed in 1826. Severyn Bruyn, as mentioned before, became the first depositor in Ulster County Savings institution. He certainly believed in banks. I would like to learn about his business ventures. I imagine he was an interesting and progressive man of his time.

Mr. Brigham's list of local dates brings out such items as 1854, "There were eight public schools valued at $21,000 with 1,200 pupils. In 1854 "The first gas lighting was installed, replacing the kerosene street lamps." I wish some of the old time 'lamp lighters' would send in some stories about their experiences. Or perhaps they handed it down to their younger generations. Just about 70 years ago the first telephones were installed here, in 1880. In 1883 the West Shore Railroad was completed to Kingston, and now it is being torn apart for further progress. So it goes.

Barred From School

New York, July 20 (AP)—Communist and Communist-front groups were barred yesterday from the use of any New York city public school property. Board President Maximilian Moss, explaining the board's position, said the nation's courts have held communism is an "organized conspiracy." It therefore seems inconceivable," he added, "that buildings owned and supported by the American people should be used as meeting places by those engaged in the 'organized conspiracy.'"

Tribute to 'Pop' Fuhrman

On behalf of the members of Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, we voice a tribute to the late Alexander "Pop" Fuhrman, founder of the Kingston Boys Club. Perhaps one of the hardest things a human being can do is to maintain over a long period of time a record of unselfish service to others. The light of the ideal is difficult to follow. But some do follow it, undeviatingly and gloriously to the rich benefit of those they serve. Such a man was "Pop" Fuhrman. The Kingston Boys Club has lost its able, conscientious and beloved director, the community has lost one of its foremost citizens. "Pop's" work with the youngsters of our city, in providing "a home away from home," with supervised, constructive activity, has helped in the development of good citizens. To the members of the Kingston Boys Club, saddened by the loss of their good friend, we extend our profound sympathy. To the officers and directors of the club, who are determined to continue the Boys Club, our commendation for their action. The greatest possible tribute to the memory of "Pop" Fuhrman will be the continuance of his work in striving toward a goal that every community-minded individual would like to see attained—"that no boy need seek companionship or recreation in the streets." We pledge our support in this work, and may the memory of "Pop" Fuhrman forever remain in the hearts of our citizens.

Oppose Communism

New York, July 20 (AP)—East coast longshoremen have been conducting an anti-Communist leaflet campaign in 16 foreign countries—including some nations behind the Iron Curtain—it was reported yesterday. The campaign was revealed at the convention of the Atlantic coast district of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) by Patrick J. Connolly, a district vice-president and editor of the union's publication. He said anti-Red leaflets placed aboard ships by longshoremen in New York harbor are finding their way to longshoremen of other countries.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

I wonder how many folks have seen the booklet of the Ulster County Savings Institution celebrating "The First Century" as compiled by Harold S. Brigham, who collected not only interesting facts from local history but from all the world around. For instance on page 11, he states:" The first savings bank that history records was set up in the village of Ruthwell, Scotland, on May 10, 1810, by the Rev. Henry Duncan. Now coming to America from Scotland, it seems the first savings banks here were The Philadelphia Savings Fund Society and The Provident Institution for Savings, both chartered in December, 1816, in the Town of Boston, Mass.

The first chartered savings bank in our state was the Bank for Savings in the City of New York, March 26, 1819. It still does business with deposits of over a quarter of a billion dollars. Back in 1848 there were only 12 savings banks in the state. And the first savings bank in Ulster county was the Ulster County Savings Institution which received its charter, by special act of the State Legislature, April 12, 1851. And now there are some 529 mutual savings banks, with deposits exceeding 20 billion dollars.

It is interesting to note just what happens to money which is deposited in a Savings Bank instead of a sock or sugar bowl. Severyn Bruyn was the first depositor of the Ulster County Savings Institution and his bank book No. 1 is now one of the most cherished possessions of the bank shows his first deposit was $120. If he had left it until January 1, 1951, which would have given it the 255th dividend, it would have grown to $4,478.40. A handsome painting of Severyn Bruyn, by John Vanderlyn can be seen in the Senate House Museum, and is reproduced in this book.

This book contains many historical items which are new to me. For instance, in 1820 the first Bank of Kingston, a branch of the Middle District Bank of Poughkeepsie was opened, perhaps prior to that date. This bank was in a room of the old stone residence of Severyn Bruyn who was the bank's cashier, at about the present location of 19 Main street. This bank failed in 1826. Severyn Bruyn, as mentioned before, became the first depositor in Ulster County Savings institution. He certainly believed in banks. I would like to learn about his business ventures. I imagine he was an interesting and progressive man of his time.

Mr. Brigham's list of local dates brings out such items as 1854, "There were eight public schools valued at $21,000 with 1,200 pupils. In 1854 "The first gas lighting was installed, replacing the kerosene street lamps." I wish some of the old time 'lamp lighters' would send in some stories about their experiences. Or perhaps they handed it down to their younger generations. Just about 70 years ago the first telephones were installed here, in 1880. In 1883 the West Shore Railroad was completed to Kingston, and now it is being torn apart for further progress. So it goes.

NEHRU ACTS MIGHTY WAR-LIKE

Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan complains that India is massing troops on his country's border.

India's Prime Minister Nehru acknowledges the troop movements, but says they are for defense. He charges Pakistan with "organized preparations for raids and sabotage in Indian territory."

Dispatches from New Delhi disclose that the major part of India's 400,000-man army has been arrayed along the frontier or in other danger zones like Kashmir. Nehru insists Indian has no intention of attacking Pakistan, though this force seems a little large for combatting mere "raids and sabotage."

Americans thousands of miles from the scene are not qualified to judge who is really threatening whom. But they are not barred from passing moral judgment on the general India-Pakistan dispute.

That dispute has centered for a long time on the independent princely state of Kashmir, which both nations wish to absorb.

United Nations mediators have recommended that a plebiscite be held to allow the people of Kashmir to vote on where they shall place their allegiance. Pakistan accepts this plan, but India does not. Furthermore, India has put its troops into Kashmir to keep command of the situation, and Indian leaders say they will never allow Kashmir to get out of their hands.

No one can be positive which way the mixed Hindu and Moslem population of that state would lean. It might well favor India. But it is just and proper that the issue be settled by a peaceful vote, not by force. The presence of Indian troops there, plus India's persistent refusal to consider a plebiscite, amounts to violation of the letter and spirit of the United Nations charter.

Last winter Nehru projected himself forward as leader in an effort to mediate the Korean war. At that time, he and his UN spokesman, Sir Benegal Rau, uttered many bitter words about the West's "stubborn reluctance" to permit mediation. He ignored the fact that his proposed settlement terms amounted to rewarding Communist aggression.

All through that period, the Kashmir controversy still raged, and India adamantly refused to accept any solution but its own. The attitude at New Delhi obviously has not altered one whit.

The Indian view seems to be that mediation is for the other fellow. Nehru wants the UN charter to apply to everyone but him.

In the light of India's record, men of character in the free world can have scant sympathy for Nehru's pretensions as a "man of peace." And they would have little patience with any action that would lead to an outbreak of war between India and Pakistan.

Hypocrisy is a harsh word but it pretty well describes India's behavior. World peace can never be promoted by men who think that the principle of just settlement of disputes should guide all the world but the part they govern.

Liberty is a gift only in the sense that money can't buy it. Liberty must be paid for in courage, intelligence and good will. Yet strangely enough the more of these qualities a person expends for his liberty the more of them he acquires, and the stronger they become.

SAFE FROM INFLATION

Rising prices and inflation may serve one useful purpose if they make us remember how many of the good things in life are not material. Friendship, love, mutual peace and quiet contentment cannot be purchased with money. The rich man and the poor can enjoy them equally.

The pleasure of walking down the street on a perfect day, the good feeling of warm water in a tub after a day's work, and the appreciation of beauty and fun have little connection with prices and costs. Inflation can be a crippling thing but some of the most important things in life are safe from it.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

JAPAN

No nation in Asia, in the 19th or 20th Century, reached the position of dignity and might equal to Japan prior to 1945. Not as large as the state of California, the Japanese built and held for a short period, from 1895 to 1945, a vast and effectively administered area in Asia from the Kurile Islands into the South Seas and Korea and Manchuria on the mainland of Asia.

From 1853 to 1911, the United States assisted in the building of Japan. It was largely loans from American banks that helped to create and expand Japan's industry. Russian imperialism in Manchuria caused the United States in 1899 to issue the John Hay "open door policy," which strengthened Japan indirectly because it arrested the Russian advance in Manchuria. As a result of Anglo-American support of Japan, in 1902, the Anglo-Japanese alliance was formulated. This was the first recognition of an East Asian people as an equal by any western power. The Anglo-Japanese alliance was one of the most constructive arrangements in Asiatic affairs and it was a pity that American influences after World War I brought it to an end.

In 1904, Japan went to war with Russia, receiving the moral and financial support of the United States. (At that time, the financial support consisted of loans from private banks.) Japan won that war by the treaty of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then President, taking the position that a strong Japan was essential to the peace of East Asia. For that peace was even then imperilled by the aggressive imperialism of Russia and the weakness and disorganization of China. Theodore Roosevelt, who was influenced in his thinking by John Hay, Henry Cabot Lodge, and Elihu Root, moved soundly in Asiatic affairs.

About 1911, an agitation developed against the Japanese in California, led by the McClatchys of the Sacramento "Bee." This had to do with the ownership of land in California and produced a race-prejudice which affected not only Japanese, but all the peoples of Eastern Asia, Chinese Filipinos, Hindus, etc. Its counterpart in Asia was a violent and growing anti-Americanism.

For this is axiom in human history: Race prejudice begets race prejudice. No people will voluntarily admit inferiority, because of blood and color, to any other people. Much of the antagonism which the United States is now encountering in Asia has its origin in the anti-Oriental agitation and legislation by Congress and by the legislatures of several western states 40 years and more ago.

So during the 1920's and 1930's, the relations between Japan and the United States deteriorated. On September 18, 1931, Japan invaded and eventually conquered Manchuria and the lower Yangtze valley of China. This is the effectual beginning of World War II, for it guaranteed that eventually the United States would make military efforts to rescue China. Chiang Kai-shek, however, had to wait a decade before the United States came in.

About one week before that war was over, and after the Japanese had tried to find a way to peace, Soviet Russia entered that war and, by the terms of the Yalta agreement, received as compensation all that Japan had prevented Russia from accomplishing by four wars and a policy of constant and vigilant militarization.

The Japanese accepted defeat with characteristic fatalism. They assumed the worst. However, the United States sent General Douglas MacArthur to Japan as pro-consul, who, instead of treating this nation as a conquered foe, set out to rebuild it as bulwark against Soviet Russia. It is this magnanimous policy which is now incorporated in the Dulles treaty.

The Japanese recognized the historic significance of MacArthur's role and bended themselves to it. Unlike some of the European countries which regarded the Marshall Plan as weakness and the assistance in their reconstruction provided by the United States as selfishly motivated, the Japanese were grateful that they had been saved from the fate of China and cooperated faithfully with MacArthur, hoping that the world situation would so turn on its axis that Japan would be restored to national integrity.

And so, in accordance with the Dulles treaty, Japan's industry and her military power will be restored and Japan will take the place which she should never have lost. It will be a great day for Asia when Japan is again the bulwark of civilization against Soviet Russia.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

MORE ABOUT YOU AND YOUR HEART

Now that it is known that heart disease stands first as a cause of death, it is only natural that when pain or other symptom occurs in region of the heart, the individual becomes disturbed and quite rightly consults his physician. Because the heart is the most important organ from the life and death standpoint, there are many mistaken notions, myths in fact, of which physicians are trying to tell their patients with more or less success. Thus in the book "You and Your Heart" edited by Dr. H. M. Marvin and associates Drs. T. Duckett Jones, Irving H. Page, Irving S. Wright, David D. Rutstein with a foreword by Dr. Paul D. White, some common fallacies about heart disease are described. Some of these fallacies or mistaken ideas are:

1. Heart disease is always incurable. Certain heart diseases are curable and by following the physician's advice, a life span of 30 or 40 more years is possible.

2. Heart disease is hereditary and so nothing can be done. There may be a family tendency to heart disease but this may be from family habits—neglect of infections, not resting during or after an ailment.

3. Heart disease is a result of our hectic civilization. Notwithstanding our emotional strains, the life span has been lengthened from 48 to 67 in the last 50 years.

4. Heart disease is usually brought on by high living. This is a misinterpretation of the fact that once heart disease has been acquired, excesses are to be avoided. Before the effect of overindulgence—whether in food, drink, tobacco, or night life—on heart disease was discovered, it was natural to blame the overindulgence for the disease. So far as can be determined, heart disease comes first. Overindulgence merely worsens it.

5. The heart is a very delicate organ. The heart in fact, is a tough organ. It is chiefly muscle so that exercise makes it extremely tough. From months before birth, the heart continues its rhythmic movements, never relaxing, except for a second at a time, so that the heart normally is as strong at fifty as at twenty.

6. Strenuous exercise damages the heart, especially after the first flush of youth. There is no need for strenuous exercise as we get older but regular exercise, such as walking, keeps the heart strong and circulation active.

7. Pain over heart is a sure sign of heart disease. Such pain is far more likely to be a sign of excessive air (gas) and muscular spasm in the digestive tract.

The above are only a few of the misconceptions regarding the heart and heart disease. Why worry about your heart? One visit to your physician will usually tell the true story.

Why Worry About Your Heart?

Did You Ever See Such a Glutton for Punishment?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Secretary of State Acheson has instructed American embassies throughout the world to play down the chances of peace in Korea. Acheson has sent a confidential cable to U. S. diplomats abroad that there is absolutely no sign the Communists are sincere in their desire for permanent peace.

On the contrary, he says, all available evidence indicates Communists hope to trap U.N. armies with their guard down and launch a sneak attack.

Achenson's pessimism finds support in another quarter—a combined analysis by the top Far East strategists for the army, navy, and air force. They have submitted a report to the joint chiefs of staff warning that the Chinese seek only a temporary armistice which will give them time to build up for another strike.

This report does not make it clear, however, whether the Chinese will strike in Korea or at French Indo-China.

Apropos of this, the French ambassador, Henri Bonnet, has been calling at the State Department to warn of a pending attack on Indo-China. The French now want to include that area in the final Korean settlement, in order to bring real peace to the Orient.

Indo-China, the French indicate, is far wealthier than Korea; is the gateway to Burma, Singapore, and India; and, if fighting in Indo-China could be stopped, an entire army would be released to support Eisenhower in Europe.

George Washington

Here is what George Washington wrote about inflation and price control on March 31, 1779, in a letter to James Warren:

"Is the paltry consideration of a little dirty pelf to individuals to be placed in competition with the essential rights and liberties of the present generation, and of millions yet unborn?

"Shall a few designing men for their own aggrandizement, and to gratify their own avarice, overset the goodly fabric we have been rearing at the expense of so much time, blood and treasure, and shall we at last become the victims of our own abominable lust for gain?

"Our cause is noble, it is the cause of mankind; and the danger to it is to be found within ourselves."

News Leak

Salty Congressman Carl Vinson of Milledgeville, Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, sizzled the other day over a news leak to Drew Pearson.

The story he didn't like was about a subcommittee report inferentially critizing him for wanting a marine corps warehouse built inland at Albany, Ga., when the marines who would use the warehouse were located several hundred miles away on the seacoast at Camp LeJeune, N. C., and Cherry Point, N. C.

Congressman Herbert Bonner of North Carolina is chairman of a subcommittee investigating these matters, so the gentleman from Georgia fixed him with a gimlet eye.

"I understand," he said, "that you have been giving information to Drew Pearson. Don't you like the way we do things in my committee?"

The scrappy North Carolinian, who incidentally did not happen to be the source of the story, bridled.

"Carl," he fired back, "I gave no information concerning you to Drew Pearson or any other columnist. I don't know what you're talking about, but I resent your inference that I did something untrustworthy. When I have something to say about a fellow, I say it to his face, not behind his back."

This was a golden opportunity for Congressman Frank Boykin of Mobile, Ala., whose motto is "everything is made for love" and who intervened as peacemaker.

"I know he didn't talk to Pearson" he soothed. "It was somebody else. Something ought to be done about these rats who tell things to columnists."

Special Interest Amendment

During the height of the runaway House debate on price controls, all kinds of special-interest amendments were thrown into the hopper against the consumer, and most of them stuck. Finally, handsome Congressman Ken Regan of Texas tried his hand at it.

Regan is close to the big oilmen of southwest Texas and he introduced an amendment taking the control of all minerals away from the interior department—a place where alert Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman has kept a close eye on the oil companies.

However, Chapman also keeps a close eye on Congress. And a few minutes after Regan introduced his amendment, Chapman heard about it and had Speaker Sam Rayburn on the phone.

"Your friend Ken Regan has just stuck in an amendment putting all minerals under an independent agency," Chapman told Rayburn.

"He did, did he?" replied Rayburn, who considers the Interior Department one of the best run in Washington. "Well, I'll see to that."

And he did. When the amendment came up for a vote, it was overwhelmingly defeated.

Gentleman From Indiana

Congressman Charlie "two Cadillac" Halleck of Indiana is not only an adroit debater, but uses plenty of scathing sarcasm to silence his opponents. In the recent price-control debate, however, he met more than his equal in an Irishman from Brooklyn, Peppery Donald O'Toole.

"During the years I've been in the House," said the Brooklyn Democrat, answering a bitter Halleck attack against price controls, "I've found the gentleman from Indiana very amusing. His ability to talk around a bill without disclosing his point of view has given me many a laugh.

"The gentleman is like the late James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champ, who was famous after he retired for his inability to pick a winner," continued O'Toole. "Mr. Halleck has an inability to feel the pulse of the people and know their wants.

"I recognize the gentleman for his courage, his courage to fight for minorities. In this case, the minorities are the National Associaticn of Manufacturers, the National Real Estate Board, and the National Chamber of Commerce."

British, French Stand on U. S.-Franco Alliance Illustrates Hypocrisy in Diplomacy

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 20—What strange goings on in the world of diplomacy! Just a few short weeks ago the United States was rent asunder by the cry that when Britain and France say they want something done or that they want something undone, there must be no offending of our allies.

'Twas argued, too, that if America didn't go along with its allies, the allies wouldn't go along with us, and that we must not "go it alone."

Yet today, as Britain and France protest that they don't want America to get naval or air bases in Spain or have anything to do with the Franco government there, the United States goes ahead anyhow.

From both President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson come the firm policy that says bases in Spain are essential to collective defense and that, notwithstanding the protests of the British and French governments, an agreement will be made with the Franco government.

Still ringing in the ears of members of Congress are the recent cries that overseas bases are so important that, if we ventured to assert our maximum force in Korea against their protests, we would be alienating our allies and that this would lose us bases in Europe. Again and again administration members of the Joint Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees of the Senate hammered those points home as they interrogated witnesses in the MacArthur hearings. Again and again the "yes men" among the administration's witnesses solemnly concurred.

What has happened since? Are we now defying our allies, deserting our allies—and "going it alone"? Or has the American government decided to do what it thinks is best for Europe's defense notwithstanding the "left wing" protests that are powerful enough to stay the hand of the governments in both London and Paris?

For it doesn't make sense to be reading about opposition by Britain and France to military measures designed primarily to help protect them. They could offer the argument of the Far Eastern controversy that all military forces would be needed for Europe's defense and hence must not get bogged down in Asia. In this instance, the object is Europe's defense. So when internal politics now influences the policies of the British and French governments, it is inevitable that the American government, which is supplying the bulk of the money and the bulk of the naval and air power for Europe's defense, should finally decide to protect its own interests with adequate bases.

There is another strange thing about the British viewpoint. In the case of the diplomatic recognition and British sponsorship of Red China for admission into the U.N., official spokesmen for Britain said again and again that, after all, ideological considerations are not vital in giving recognition and that the main criterion is whether a government is in military control of its territory. Certainly General Franco and his government have complete control of the territory of all Spain. Franco has been recognized—so why is his aid unwelcome?

As for military-assistance projects, the British-American plan to aid Tito in Yugoslavia brushes aside ideology, too. For he is still a Communist.

Such inconsistencies merely illustrate the hypocrisy of present-day diplomacy. The spectacle of the governments of Great Britain and France turning down a chance to get a 400,000-man army—as well as valuable bases beyond the Pyrenees, where big airfields can be operated in relative safety, affording a separate approach to Russian territory—is not one that the average American will understand. To the non-political mind which isn't immersed in ideologies or politics, the matter of defense is a cold-blooded problem of saving lives and building up military strength to prevent a world war.

Plenty will be said here in Congress about the strange behavior of the British and French governments in urging that America send troops to Europe while at the same time declining to make use of Franco's troops. Plenty will be heard about whether it is wise to continue furnishing more and more economic aid to Britain and France under the guise of stopping communism when the aid of the most powerful anti-Communist regime in southern Europe is spurned.

These are certainly days of strange arguments but it is gratifying that the President and the secretary of state are not being swayed by the viewpoint of the British Labor government. Who knows—maybe enough firmness will develop here to disregard also the protests of the British and French about a determined policy in the Far East. There may be occasion for this if the "cease fire" parleys turn out to be just a military tactic by the Communists.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 19—Senator Harry F. Byrd's big speech at the Jefferson-Jackson dinner in Atlanta actually was a call for a southern political rebellion against a new plague of northern carpetbaggers and southern scalawags. He did not use these terms but the metaphor is plain in the political situation which moved him to cry out: "The south is not impotent! The true principles of our constitutional democracy are immortal. These fundamentals cannot be dimmed by age or distorted by demagogs."

The most important part of the speech was that which damned the civil rights program. This scheme is politically identified with President Truman although, in reality, it was forced upon him by the modern successors to the vindictive zealqts from the north who, in the comparable days of reconstruction, compelled the best people of the south to organize the original Ku Klux Klan. It is not yet time for another active rebellion against alien oppressors from the north but in the situation such as Byrd's speech plainly conjured, an underground force would be as logical as fascism was in Italy, the phalange was in Spain and the resistance was in France. The civil rights program did not spring from any formulated desire of the American people in any section of the country. It was invented by a small group of Marxist political adventurers in the north. New York is the center of its power. The south has been selected as its special victim, although the other sections would suffer the same loss of constitutional freedom.

To present Senator Byrd's protest in compact form it is necessary to telesecope much of his oratory.

He led off with a warning that the whole nation could be destroyed by national insolvency and a charge that Truman was pushing the country toward that doom by presenting the highest civilian budget in history.

"He incorporated all of his Socialistic measures known as the Fair Deal," Byrd said. "This budget represented the very height of fiscal irresponsibility. Not only was domestic civilian spending increased but new and costly ventures in government spending were included.

"By one measure, the Fair Employment Practices Commission, it is proposed to set up another costly, powerful and inquisitorial bureau to send the strong arm of the national government into the daily transactions of virtually every man's private business; to tell employers whom they must hire, fire and promote. Inquisitors could enter every employer's place of business and examine books and papers without process from any court, in search of evidence against him. It would force people to give evidence against themselves. It would provide for federally appointed examiners to hear evidence. And the record could be sent to Washington where a decision would be rendered against an employer in his absence. Fines and imprisonment are provided for any person who hinders the operation of this commission."

Senator Byrd could have added that already, in other fields of business activity and government authority, records are commandeered and used against those who are forced to give them up and that judicial decisions are given by bureaucrats against absent defendants. In Arizona last winter, the publisher of a newspaper said he would like to fire a reporter who had imposed on him with an untruthful story and exposed his paper to the risk of a libel action but that he was afraid to because he had just finished a setto with the Wages and Hours administration. He was afraid the reporter might report him to this bureau and stir up the animals again.

"It was proposed to enact an anti-lynching law to be enforced by federal agents in federal courts," Byrd said. "Such a law has long been considered unconstitutional since it involved no interstate aspects. It is clearly an invasion of state's rights."

In this connection, he could have noted that the law, as proposed, would pointedly exempt riots deliberately formated by union bosses from the scope of the act. There have been thousands of lynchings by union mobs for one lynching in the South since 1933. The verb "to lynch" means "to inflict punishment, especially death, without the forms of law." A lynching may not be fatal although many lynchings done by union mobs have been.

"During my service as governor," Byrd continued, "the strongest anti-lynching law ever passed was placed on the books by the General Assembly of Virginia."

Q—Is the snakeroot herb poisonous?

A—Yes. This perennial herb time and again has decimated whole communities with epidemics of "milk-sickness." Only a few mouthfuls of the plant's leaves may be enough to sicken a cow and make its milk deadly poison to susceptible humans.

Q—Where is the headquarters of the World Postal Union?

A—The World Postal Union, which enables young people all over the world to become pen friends, shifted its headquarters to Denmark in 1939.

Q—What is the origin of the expression "earmarked"?

A—To earmark an item is to set it aside for specific purpose. It comes from the old custom of slitting, cropping or notching the ears of domestic animals, or even slaves, in such a way as to be a mark of ownership.

NEHRU ACTS MIGHTY WAR-LIKE

Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan complains that India is massing troops on his country's border.

India's Prime Minister Nehru acknowledges the troop movements, but says they are for defense. He charges Pakistan with "organized preparations for raids and sabotage in Indian territory."

Dispatches from New Delhi disclose that the major part of India's 400,000-man army has been arrayed along the frontier or in other danger zones like Kashmir. Nehru insists Indian has no intention of attacking Pakistan, though this force seems a little large for combatting mere "raids and sabotage."

Americans thousands of miles from the scene are not qualified to judge who is really threatening whom. But they are not barred from passing moral judgment on the general India-Pakistan dispute.

That dispute has centered for a long time on the independent princely state of Kashmir, which both nations wish to absorb.

United Nations mediators have recommended that a plebiscite be held to allow the people of Kashmir to vote on where they shall place their allegiance. Pakistan accepts this plan, but India does not. Furthermore, India has put its troops into Kashmir to keep command of the situation, and Indian leaders say they will never allow Kashmir to get out of their hands.

No one can be positive which way the mixed Hindu and Moslem population of that state would lean. It might well favor India. But it is just and proper that the issue be settled by a peaceful vote, not by force. The presence of Indian troops there, plus India's persistent refusal to consider a plebiscite, amounts to violation of the letter and spirit of the United Nations charter.

Last winter Nehru projected himself forward as leader in an effort to mediate the Korean war. At that time, he and his UN spokesman, Sir Benegal Rau, uttered many bitter words about the West's "stubborn reluctance" to permit mediation. He ignored the fact that his proposed settlement terms amounted to rewarding Communist aggression.

All through that period, the Kashmir controversy still raged, and India adamantly refused to accept any solution but its own. The attitude at New Delhi obviously has not altered one whit.

The Indian view seems to be that mediation is for the other fellow. Nehru wants the UN charter to apply to everyone but him.

In the light of India's record, men of character in the free world can have scant sympathy for Nehru's pretensions as a "man of peace." And they would have little patience with any action that would lead to an outbreak of war between India and Pakistan.

Hypocrisy is a harsh word but it pretty well describes India's behavior. World peace can never be promoted by men who think that the principle of just settlement of disputes should guide all the world but the part they govern.

Liberty is a gift only in the sense that money can't buy it. Liberty must be paid for in courage, intelligence and good will. Yet strangely enough the more of these qualities a person expends for his liberty the more of them he acquires and the stronger they become.

SAFE FROM INFLATION

Rising prices and inflation may serve one useful purpose if they make us remember how many of the good things in life are not material. Friendship, love, mutual peace and quiet contentment cannot be purchased with money. The rich man and the poor can enjoy them equally.

The pleasure of walking down the street on a perfect day, the good feeling of warm water in a tub after a day's work, and the appreciation of beauty and fun have little connection with prices and costs. Inflation can be a crippling thing but some of the most important things in life are safe from it.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

JAPAN

No nation in Asia, in the 19th or 20th Century, reached the position of dignity and might equal to Japan prior to 1945. Not as large as the state of California, the Japanese built and held for a short period, from 1895 to 1945, a vast and effectively administered area in Asia from the Kurile Islands into the South Seas and Korea and Manchuria on the mainland of Asia.

From 1853 to 1911, the United States assisted in the building of Japan. It was largely loans from American banks that helped to create and expand Japan's industry. Russian imperialism in Manchuria caused the United States in 1899 to issue the John Hay "open door policy," which strengthened Japan indirectly because it arrested the Russian advance in Manchuria. As a result of Anglo-American support of Japan, in 1902, the Anglo-Japanese alliance was formulated. This was the first recognition of an East Asian people as an equal by any western power. The Anglo-Japanese alliance was one of the most constructive arrangements in Asiatic affairs and it was a pity that American influences after World War I brought it to an end.

In 1904, Japan went to war with Russia, receiving the moral and financial support of the United States. (At that time, the financial support consisted of loans from private banks.) Japan won that war by the treaty of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, Theodore Roosevelt, who was then President, taking the position that a strong Japan was essential to the peace of East Asia. For that peace was even then imperilled by the aggressive imperialism of Russia and the weakness and disorganization of China. Theodore Roosevelt, who was influenced in his thinking by John Hay, Henry Cabot Lodge, and Elihu Root, moved soundly in Asiatic affairs.

About 1911, an agitation developed against the Japanese in California, led by the McClatchys of the Sacramento "Bee." This had to do with the ownership of land in California and produced a race-prejudice which affected not only Japanese, but all the peoples of Eastern Asia, Chinese Filipinos, Hindus, etc. Its counterpart in Asia was a violent and growing anti-Americanism.

For this is axiom in human history: Race prejudice begets race prejudice. No people will voluntarily admit inferiority, because of blood and color, to any other people. Much of the antagonism which the United States is now encountering in Asia has its origin in the anti-Oriental agitation and legislation by Congress and by the legislatures of several western states 40 years and more ago.

So during the 1920's and 1930's, the relations between Japan and the United States deteriorated. On September 18, 1931, Japan invaded and eventually conquered Manchuria and the lower Yangtze valley of China. This is the effectual beginning of World War II, for it guaranteed that eventually the United States would make military efforts to rescue China. Chiang Kai-shek, however, had to wait a decade before the United States came in.

About one week before that war was over, and after the Japanese had tried to find a way to peace, Soviet Russia entered that war and, by the terms of the Yalta agreement, received as compensation all that Japan had prevented Russia from accomplishing by four wars and a policy of constant and vigilant militarization.

The Japanese accepted defeat with characteristic fatalism. They assumed the worst. However, the United States sent General Douglas MacArthur to Japan as pro-consul, who, instead of treating this nation as a conquered foe, set out to rebuild it as bulwark against Soviet Russia. It is this magnanimous policy which is now incorporated in the Dulles treaty.

The Japanese recognized the historic significance of MacArthur's role and bended themselves to it. Unlike some of the European countries which regarded the Marshall Plan as weakness and the assistance in their reconstruction provided by the United States as selfishly motivated, the Japanese were grateful that they had been saved from the fate of China and cooperated faithfully with MacArthur, hoping that the world situation would so turn on its axis that Japan would be restored to national integrity.

And so, in accordance with the Dulles treaty, Japan's industry and her military power will be restored and Japan will take the place which she should never have lost. It will be a great day for Asia when Japan is again the bulwark of civilization against Soviet Russia.

That Body of Yours

MORE ABOUT YOU AND YOUR HEART

Now that it is known that heart disease stands first as a cause of death, it is only natural that when pain or other symptom occurs in region of the heart, the individual becomes disturbed and quite rightly consults his physician. Because the heart is the most important organ from the life and death standpoint, there are many mistaken notions, myths in fact, of which physicians are trying to tell their patients with more or less success. Thus in the book "You and Your Heart" edited by Dr. H. M. Marvin and associates Drs. T. Duckett Jones, Irving H. Page, Irving S. Wright, David D. Rutstein with a foreword by Dr. Paul D. White, some common fallacies about heart disease are described. Some of these fallacies or mistaken ideas are:

1. Heart disease is always incurable. Certain heart diseases are curable and by following the physician's advice, a life span of 30 or 40 more years is possible.

2. Heart disease is hereditary and so nothing can be done. There may be a family tendency to heart disease but this may be from family habits—neglect of infections, not resting during or after an ailment.

3. Heart disease is a result of our hectic civilization. Notwithstanding our emotional strains, the life span has been lengthened from 48 to 67 in the last 50 years.

4. Heart disease is usually brought on by high living. This is a misinterpretation of the fact that once heart disease has been acquired, excesses are to be avoided. Before the effect of overindulgence—whether in food, drink, tobacco, or night life—on heart disease was discovered, it was natural to blame the overindulgence for the disease. So far as can be determined, heart disease comes first. Overindulgence merely worsens it.

5. The heart is a very delicate organ. The heart in fact, is a tough organ. It is chiefly muscle so that exercise makes it extremely tough. From months before birth, the heart continues its rhythmic movements, never relaxing, except for a second at a time, so that the heart normally is as strong at fifty as at twenty.

6. Strenuous exercise damages the heart, especially after the first flush of youth. There is no need for strenuous exercise as we get older but regular exercise, such as walking, keeps the heart strong and circulation active.

7. Pain over heart is a sure sign of heart disease. Such pain is far more likely to be a sign of excessive air (gas) and muscular spasm in the digestive tract.

The above are only a few of the misconceptions regarding the heart and heart disease. Why worry about your heart? One visit to your physician will usually tell the true story.

Did You Ever See Such a Glutton for Punishment?

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Secretary of State Acheson has instructed American embassies throughout the world to play down the chances of peace in Korea. Acheson has sent a confidential cable to U. S. diplomats abroad that there is absolutely no sign the Communists are sincere in their desire for permanent peace.

On the contrary, he says, all available evidence indicates Communists hope to trap U.N. armies with their guard down and launch a sneak attack.

Achenson's pessimism finds support in another quarter—a combined analysis by the top Far East strategists for the army, navy, and air force. They have submitted a report to the joint chiefs of staff warning that the Chinese seek only a temporary armistice which will give them time to build up for another strike.

This report does not make it clear, however, whether the Chinese will strike in Korea or at French Indo-China.

Apropos of this, the French ambassador, Henri Bonnet, has been calling at the State Department to warn of a pending attack on Indo-China. The French now want to include that area in the final Korean settlement, in order to bring real peace to the Orient.

Indo-China, the French indicate, is far wealthier than Korea; is the gateway to Burma, Singapore, and India; and, if fighting in Indo-China could be stopped, an entire army would be released to support Eisenhower in Europe.

George Washington

Here is what George Washington wrote about inflation and price control on March 31, 1779, in a letter to James Warren:

"Is the paltry consideration of a little dirty pelf to individuals to be placed in competition with the essential rights and liberties of the present generation, and of millions yet unborn?

"Shall a few designing men for their own aggrandizement, and to gratify their own avarice, overset the goodly fabric we have been rearing at the expense of so much time, blood and treasure, and shall we at last become the victims of our own abominable lust for gain?

"Our cause is noble, it is the cause of mankind; and the danger to it is to be found within ourselves."

This was a golden opportunity for Congressman Frank Boykin of Mobile, Ala., whose motto is "everything is made for love" and who intervened as peacemaker.

"I know he didn't talk to Pearson" he soothed. "It was somebody else. Something ought to be done about these rats who tell things to columnists."

Special Interest Amendment

During the height of the runaway House debate on price controls, all kinds of special-interest amendments were thrown into the hopper against the consumer, and most of them stuck. Finally, handsome Congressman Ken Regan of Texas tried his hand at it.

However, Chapman also keeps a close eye on Congress. And a few minutes after Regan introduced his amendment, Chapman heard about it and had Speaker Sam Rayburn on the phone.

"Your friend Ken Regan has just stuck in an amendment putting all minerals under an independent agency," Chapman told Rayburn.

"He did, did he?" replied Rayburn, who considers the Interior Department one of the best run in Washington. "Well, I'll see to that."

And he did. When the amendment came up for a vote, it was overwhelmingly defeated.

Congressman Charlie "two Cadillac" Halleck of Indiana is not only an adroit debater, but uses plenty of scathing sarcasm to silence his opponents. In the recent price-control debate, however, he met more than his equal in an Irishman from Brooklyn, Peppery Donald O'Toole.

"The gentleman is like the late James J. Corbett, former heavyweight champ, who was famous after he retired for his inability to pick a winner," continued O'Toole. "Mr. Halleck has an inability to feel the pulse of the people and know their wants.

"I recognize the gentleman for his courage, his courage to fight for minorities. In this case, the minorities are the National Associatien of Manufacturers, the National Real Estate Board, and the National Chamber of Commerce."

Washington, July 20—What strange goings on in the world of diplomacy! Just a few short weeks ago the United States was rent asunder by the cry that when Britain and France say they want something done or that they want something undone, there must be no offending of our allies.

'Twas argued, too, that if America didn't go along with its allies, the allies wouldn't go along with us, and that we must not "go it alone."

Yet today, as Britain and France protest that they don't want America to get naval or air bases in Spain or have anything to do with the Franco government there, the United States goes ahead anyhow.

From both President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson come the firm policy that says bases in Spain are essential to collective defense and that, notwithstanding the protests of the British and French governments, an agreement will be made with the Franco government.

Still ringing in the ears of members of Congress are the recent cries that overseas bases are so important that, if we ventured to assert our maximum force in Korea against their protests, we would be alienating our allies and that this would lose us bases in Europe. Again and again administration members of the Joint Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees of the Senate hammered those points home as they interrogated witnesses in the MacArthur hearings. Again and again the "yes men" among the administration's witnesses solemnly concurred.

What has happened since? Are we now defying our allies, deserting our allies—and "going it alone"? Or has the American government decided to do what it thinks is best for Europe's defense notwithstanding the "left wing" protests that are powerful enough to stay the hand of the governments in both London and Paris?

For it doesn't make sense to be reading about opposition by Britain and France to military measures designed primarily to help protect them. They could offer the argument of the Far Eastern controversy that all military forces would be needed for Europe's defense and hence must not get bogged down in Asia. In this instance, the object is Europe's defense. So when internal politics now influences the policies of the British and French governments, it is inevitable that the American government, which is supplying the bulk of the money and the bulk of the naval and air power for Europe's defense, should finally decide to protect its own interests with adequate bases.

There is another strange thing about the British viewpoint. In the case of the diplomatic recognition and British sponsorship of Red China for admission into the U.N., official spokesmen for Britain said again and again that, after all, ideological considerations are not vital in giving recognition and that the main criterion is whether a government is in military control of its territory. Certainly General Franco and his government have complete control of the territory of all Spain. Franco has been recognized—so why is his aid unwelcome?

As for military-assistance projects, the British-American plan to aid Tito in Yugoslavia brushes aside ideology, too. For he is still a Communist.

Such inconsistencies merely illustrate the hypocrisy of present-day diplomacy. The spectacle of the governments of Great Britain and France turning down a chance to get a 400,000-man army—as well as valuable bases beyond the Pyrenees, where big airfields can be operated in relative safety, affording a separate approach to Russian territory—is not one that the average American will understand. To the non-political mind which isn't immersed in ideologies or politics, the matter of defense is a cold-blooded problem of saving lives and building up military strength to prevent a world war.

Plenty will be said here in Congress about the strange behavior of the British and French governments in urging that America send troops to Europe while at the same time declining to make use of Franco's troops. Plenty will be heard about whether it is wise to continue furnishing more and more economic aid to Britain and France under the guise of stopping communism when the aid of the most powerful anti-Communist regime in southern Europe is spurned.

These are certainly days of strange arguments but it is gratifying that the President and the secretary of state are not being swayed by the viewpoint of the British Labor government. Who knows—maybe enough firmness will develop here to disregard also the protests of the British and French about a determined policy in the Far East. There may be occasion for this if the "cease fire" parleys turn out to be just a military tactic by the Communists.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, July 19—Senator Harry F. Byrd's big speech at the Jefferson-Jackson dinner in Atlanta actually was a call for a southern political rebellion against a new plague of northern carpetbaggers and southern scalawags. He did not use these terms but the metaphor is plain in the political situation which moved him to cry out: "The south is not impotent! The true principles of our constitutional democracy are immortal. These fundamentals cannot be dimmed by age or distorted by demagogs."

The most important part of the speech was that which damned the civil rights program. This scheme is politically identified with President Truman although, in reality, it was forced upon him by the modern successors to the vindictive zealots from the north who, in the comparable days of reconstruction, compelled the best people of the south to organize the original Ku Klux Klan. It is not yet time for another active rebellion against alien oppressors from the north but in the situation such as Byrd's speech plainly conjured, an underground force would be as logical as fascism was in Italy, the phalange was in Spain and the resistance was in France. The civil rights program did not spring from any formulated desire of the American people in any section of the country. It was invented by a small group of Marxist political adventurers in the north. New York is the center of its power. The south has been selected as its special victim, although the other sections would suffer the same loss of constitutional freedom.

To present Senator Byrd's protest in compact form it is necessary to telescope much of his oratory.

He led off with a warning that the whole nation could be destroyed by national insolvency and a charge that Truman was pushing the country toward that doom by presenting the highest civilian budget in history.

"He incorporated all of his Socialistic measures known as the Fair Deal," Byrd said. "This budget represented the very height of fiscal irresponsibility. Not only was domestic civilian spending increased but new and costly ventures in government spending were included.

"By one measure, the Fair Employment Practices Commission, it is proposed to set up another costly, powerful and inquisitorial bureau to send the strong arm of the national government into the daily transactions of virtually every man's private business; to tell employers whom they must hire, fire and promote. Inquisitors could enter every employer's place of business and examine books and papers without process from any court, in search of evidence against him. It would force people to give evidence against themselves. It would provide for federally appointed examiners to hear evidence. And the record could be sent to Washington where a decision would be rendered against an employer in his absence. Fines and imprisonment are provided for any person who hinders the operation of this commission."

Senator Byrd could have added that already, in other fields of business activity and government authority, records are commandeered and used against those who are forced to give them up and that judicial decisions are given by bureaucrats against absent defendants. In Arizona last winter, the publisher of a newspaper said he would like to fire a reporter who had imposed on him with an untruthful story and exposed his paper to the risk of a libel action but that he was afraid to because he had just finished a setto with the Wages and Hours Administration. He was afraid the reporter might report him to this bureau and stir up the animals again.

"It was proposed to enact an anti-lynching law to be enforced by federal agents in federal courts," Byrd said. "Such a law has long been considered unconstitutional since it involved no interstate aspects. It is clearly an invasion of state's rights."

In this connection, he could have noted that the law, as proposed, would pointedly exempt riots deliberately formated by union bosses from the scope of the act. There have been thousands of lynchings by union mobs for one lynching in the South since 1933. The verb "to lynch" means "to inflict punishment, especially death, without the forms of law." A lynching may not be fatal although many lynchings done by union mobs have been.

"During my service as governor," Byrd continued, "the strongest anti-lynching law ever passed was placed on the books by the General Assembly of Virginia."

Questions — Answers

Q—Is the snakeroot herb poisonous?

A—Yes. This perennial herb time and again has decimated whole communities with epidemics of "milk-sickness." Only a few mouthfuls of the plant's leaves may be enough to sicken a cow and make its milk deadly poison to susceptible humans.

Q—Where is the headquarters of the World Postal Union?

A—The World Postal Union, which enables young people all over the world to become pen friends, shifted its headquarters to Denmark in 1939.

Q—What is the origin of the expression "earmarked"?

A—To earmark an item is to set it aside for specific purpose. It comes from the old custom of slitting, cropping or notching the ears of domestic animals, or even slaves, in such a way as to be a mark of ownership.

10th Anniversary Of Elting's Death

This date is the 10th anniversary of the death of Philip Elting, who had been chairman of the Ulster County Republican Central Committee for 37 years, and Collector of the Port of New York Authority under four presidents.

A prominent figure in national as well as state and local politics, the former county Republican chairman, died at his home at 106 Maiden Lane in his 77th year. He had undergone treatment for some time before his death at the Benedictine Hospital and died about a week after he returned from there to his home.

A native of Highland, he had lived in Kingston since he was a young man. He began the practice of law here in 1899 and was associated with William S. Kenyon and Severyn B. Sharpe in the building of the Ulster County Savings Institution where he retained quarters until the time of his death. He was named county Republican chairman in 1904.

As Collector of the Port of New York Authority he served under Presidents Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt. Prior to those years he was shipping commissioner of the Port of New York under President Theodore Roosevelt.

Locally he had served as county attorney and corporation counsel, but most of his time was devoted to leadership of the party in the county and was known for his accurate forecasts of election results. He was a keen banking official and was president of the Kingston Trust Company and a trustee of the Ulster County Savings Institution.

A charter member of the Holland Society of New York, he was also actively interested in the Ulster County Society of New York. He was a member of the First Dutch Reformed Church and had served on the church board.

Jay Fitzpatrick, appraiser of 655 Sixth avenue, New York, who for 10 years was associated with Philip Elting when the latter was Collector of United States Customs, Port of New York in a communication to The Freeman pays tribute to the late Republican leader of Ulster county.

In his tribute, the writer states "in these days of World Wars, ungrateful persons, hard-boiled self-seeking politicians and their ilk, the passing of scholarly statesmen such as Phil Elting and other illustrious business gentlemen, such as Jay E. Klock, late editor and publisher of The Kingston Daily Freeman, are apparently unfortunately overlooked, neglected, forgotten in the world today."

Woodstock Firm Held On Dwelling Charge

New York, July 20 (Special to The Freeman)—A trial in Special Sessions Court here on charges of violating the city's multiple dwelling code, pending against the Seafeld Realty Corporation of Woodstock, was ordered Thursday in Municipal Term Court here by Magistrate John R. Starkey.

The Woodstock firm, which owns an apartment house at 9 West 137th street, New York, is accused of permitting the building to deteriorate in condition. Specifically, Department of Housing and Building investigators reported, a leaky roof, broken dumbwaiter doors and broken plaster were found in the premises.

Starkey ordered the corporation held for trial after a hearing.

BABSON on BUSINESS

BABSON DISCUSSES "MERCHANDISING"

New Boston, N. H., July 20—I have invested the bulk of my savings in the stocks of merchandising companies. This probably is because of the advice of my good father who once owned the leading "dry goods and variety store" in Gloucester, Massachusetts.

"Don't be a manufacturer and be dependent upon one location and one product with accompanying labor troubles. Don't be content to be always working for others. Start out by being a salesman of investments, insurance or merchandise with the ultimate goal of having a business of your own. In other words, be a middleman or shopkeeper, free to grow and to serve."

The above was my father's advice and he would sometimes add, "The live merchant who cleans up his bank loans once each year and puts half his profits back into the business can't help but succeed. But remember, Roger, that the best floor covering for a successful store consists of the footprints of the owner!"

Merchandise Investments

First, I would advise a young man to have a store in a small city. Likewise, I advise investors to put their money into helping to build up a local independent store, rather than in the stock of any big department store of some large city. If you can't invest money in such a local store, then buy stock of one of the good chain stores operating in your town. It may be one of the grocery chains like the A & P, or one of the variety stores like Penney, Woolworth, Kresge, Grant, McCrory, McLellan, Newberry, Murphy or Green—although some of these stocks seem pretty high priced to buy now.

Large department stores have prospered the past few years through the sale of furniture, electric refrigerators, television sets and other household goods which are not carried by the variety stores. When, however, hard times or a crop failure come, department store sales fall off sharply; while the variety store sales often increase. Besides, having stores in many different states, as do the chains, gives the advantage of diversification both of merchandise and locality. Most such chains have excellent management and no debt. The stock of all are listed on a Stock Exchange; if you buy into one which has a store in your community, you can keep an eye on what it is doing.

What About Inflation?

Dollars may decline in purchasing power until they reach 25 cents. If World War 3 should come, dollars could go even lower. Hence, it is common sense to have your money in good merchandise rather than in cash or government bonds. But, insist upon investing in those stores with an annual turnover of four to seven times a year, and which charge off to zero every article held more than one year.

The live merchant—chain or independent—has nothing to fear if he follows the above rules, using his profits to improve his store and buying only quick-selling goods. Or, he can use his profits to open another store in an adjoining community, putting in charge thereof the best clerk in his present local store. This not only makes a success of the new branch, but also serves as an incentive to all employes. Such a policy will soon make you a chain owner.

A Word to Children

Let me add a word of advice to young people—boys and girls—whose father has a good store. Learn to know and serve in your father's store. Follow my example and work there during vacations and Saturdays. This is the way I started and today—with my savings alone—apart from my regular business of writing and advising on investments, I am the largest owner of a chain of over 200 stores, the stock of which is listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

At your father's death he can leave you a good store—free of debt and with "good will' established by extensive advertising and good service. Such a store is a safer and more profitable investment than any bonds or mortgages that your father may have in his safe deposit box. Remember what happened to the poor cow who was always seeking the green hill in the distance!

As Pegler Sees It

where 26 years have passed since the last lynching.

"The President's Commission proposed, and he endorsed, not only the specific abolition of the poll tax in federal elections but also an authorization for the Department of Justice to use all civil and criminal powers to supervise primaries and elections of representatives of the several states. It is even recommended that the federal government be given power to supervise the discussion of matters relating to national political issues. All this is in direct defiance of the first article of the constitution which gives the states the right to establish the qualifications of voters and conduct all elections. In the South, questions of the poll tax and other such matters are submitted to the people for their rightful decision under constitutional procedure.

"The President threatens to deny all federal grants in aid," to states which refuse to repeal all local segregation laws. "Never before has any President requested legislation whereby states are directed to change their local laws" or suffer denial of federal money to which the citizens of these states, by their taxes, have contributed.

"This was deliberately aimed at the south. What, let me ask, has the south done to justify this treatment from the national Democratic Party? Why should we be singled out by our party's leaders? In the terrible days of reconstruction we had no 'southern recovery plan.' We had only our own character and our determination to go forward to our greater destiny. Never in all the history of the world is there an example of advancement equal to that of the Negro in the south.

"We must not short-cut the Constitution of the United States. Southern senators and congressmen fought these proposals with all their power. They were fighting not only for the south but to preserve our constitutional government, as every single one of these proposals is unconstitutional."

where 26 years have passed since the last lynching.

"The President's Commission proposed, and he endorsed, not only the specific abolition of the poll tax in federal elections but also an authorization for the Department of Justice to use all civil and criminal powers to supervise primaries and elections of representatives of the several states. It is even recommended that the federal government be given power to supervise the discussion of matters relating to national political issues. All this is in direct defiance of the first article of the constitution which gives the states the right to establish the qualifications of voters and conduct all elections. In the South, questions of the poll tax and other such matters are submitted to the people for their rightful decision under constitutional procedure.

"The President threatens to deny all federal grants in aid," to states which refuse to repeal all local segregation laws. "Never before has any President requested legislation whereby states are directed to change their local laws" or suffer denial of federal money to which the citizens of these states, by their taxes, have contributed.

"This was deliberately aimed at the south. What, let me ask, has the south done to justify this treatment from the national Democratic Party? Why should we be singled out by our party's leaders? In the terrible days of reconstruction we had no 'southern recovery plan.' We had only our own character and our determination to go forward to our greater destiny. Never in all the history of the world is there an example of advancement equal to that of the Negro in the south.

"We must not short-cut the Constitution of the United States. Southern senators and congressmen fought these proposals with all their power. They were fighting not only for the south but to preserve our constitutional government, as every single one of these proposals is unconstitutional."

Charged With Assault

A call was received at the sheriff's office at 11:15 p. m, Thursday from Port Ewen stating that a fight was in progress. Deputy Sheriffs Wesley A. O'Brien and Earl Conro were sent to investigate. On arrival the fight was over but later Harry Litts, 45, Union Center, was picked up in Kingston by city police on a warrant charging assault, second degree, and he was taken before Justice of the Peace F. E. Palen, Jr., at Port Ewen. A hearing will be held later and the matter is still under investigation.

Syracuse Has Test

Syracuse, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Under "atomic" bombing, many Syracuse residents are confused, but cooperative. Onondaga county's civilian defense chief made this appraisal last night after a low-flying "enemy" bomber touched off the city's first air raid test since World War 2. Col. Harvey S. Smith said the public had cooperated "by and large." The 4,000 civil defense workers did a good job, he added, but there was some confusion. The "bomber," chased by five jet fighters, swept across the city's north end and released an "A-bomb" above the state barge canal. Put on red alert at 6:20 p. m., EST, civilian defense crews cleared streets of traffic and ordered pedestrians indoors. Most obeyed.

Players from all over the country will be assembling in Washington, D. C., in a week or so to take part in the annual summer championships. One expert who won't have to travel very far is Dr. A. J. Steinberg, who lives in the nation's capital.

Last year Dr. Steinberg earned himself a neat victory by reaching and making a touch-and-go slam. It may have been a good thing for domestic tranquillity that he made his slam, since he had been boosted into that contract by his wife.

The bidding was short and very much to the point. South's distribution and general strength were beautifully described by an opening bid of two no-trump. Thereupon North must expect that there will be a fine play for twelve tricks. And so there was.

West opened the four of spades, and dummy won with the queen. The king of spades followed and the bad news was revealed. Only four spades could be won because of the unfortunate 5-1 break.

Dr. Steinberg turned his attention next to the clubs, leading low from the dummy toward his king. West won with the ace of clubs and returned the suit. Declarer won with dummy's jack of clubs and hopefully laid down the queen of clubs, only to discover that here also the break was unfavorable.

The slam now depended on guessing which opponent had the queen of diamonds. Dr. Steinberg cashed his three top hearts first, to count the hands. When West followed to all three, it became clear that he had started with exactly five spades and two clubs, and with either three or four hearts. (The thirteenth heart had not yet shown up.)

This made it apparent that West had started with either two or three of the missing seven diamonds. In either case, East held the majority of the diamonds, so East was an odds-on choice to hold the queen of diamonds.

On this reasoning Dr. Steinberg crossed to dummy's king of diamonds and then finessed the jack of that suit. When the finesse held, the slam was assured.

Split on Gas

Washington, July 20 (AP)—President Truman and one of his staunch supporters, Senator Humphrey (D.-Minn.) appeared to part company today on a natural gas decision by the Federal Power Commission. The Power Commission decision, announced Wednesday by Chairman Mon Wallgren, was a 4 to 1 vote against federal jurisdiction over rates charged for natural gas by the Phillips Petroleum Company, one of the large natural gas producers. President Truman told his news conference yesterday he did not think the Power Commission action had any connection with his veto last year of the Kerr natural gas bill. That bill would have denied to the commission authority to regulate rates charged by independent producers and gatherers of natural gas.

Two Men Crushed

Patchogue, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Two men were crushed to death when lightning struck a building, causing a 40-by-60 foot cement roof to collapse yesterday. The men, plasterers, were working at a cafeteria being built in the rear of Patchogue High School. Three or four bolts of lightning struck. One of the bolts drove the center cement column four feet into the ground, causing steel girders to topple. The dead men were Hudson Darrow, 54, of East Moriches, and Sherwood Hawkins, 74, of Port Jefferson. It took more than an hour to clear away the debris and remove the bodies.

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 19—Kenneth Kelder of Maple Hill was numbered among the many callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

George, Edwin and Estelle Slavin are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Slavin of the mountain road.

J. D. Glass, formerly of Panama City, Fla., and more recently a resident of Poughkeepsie, was a caller in the village center Monday.

Mrs. M. Arnesen of New York is spending three weeks at the Christiansen home on VanSteenburgh Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis of the Onteora Trail and Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Olive Bridge, motored to Niagara Falls last week.

Local traffic observers confirm the recent Freeman statement that vacationists are turning to travel instead of sojourns in the mountains. The great Ashokan Reservoir still is Ulster county's ace drawing card for tourists, though the multiplicity of stickers which adorn the rear side windows of visiting cars attest the popularity of many other well known scenic spots.

Members of the Fred and Robert Haver families are spending some time at the R. Haver camp in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. E. Lukacs has opened her large house along the East Butternutkill to city guests. Mr. Lukacs has been employed in New Jersey for the past year.

Anna Gruber, Kingston; Mrs. John Adels of Ashokan and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf enjoyed a trip to Pittsfield, Mass.

Mrs. John Adsit and two children have returned home after spending two weeks in Long Branch, N. J.

Sunday, July 22 marks another birthday for Elizabeth Giles, resident of the church hill neighborhood of Shokan. Miss Giles, a member of the Shokan Reformed Church, was born and brought up in this section, one of six children of Benjamin and Alida Eckert) Giles.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Swenson, formerly of Brooklyn, have built and sold three bungalows near their home along the mountainside back of Shokan. The houses though not fully completed, are occupied by summer people. Ben, who does his own carpentering, expects to put up more bungalows on his 54 acre tract of abandoned fields and woodland.

Gives Away $124,000

Salem, Mass., July 20 (AP)—Charity, employes, friends and relatives were left a total of $124,000 in the will of Mrs. Ellen W. Wood, of Beverly, widow of William M. Wood, founder of the American Woolen Company. Mrs. Wood died July 6 at the age of 91. A bequest of $10,000 was made to the Children's Village at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

Electrocuted on Ladder

Red Creek, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Earl Begelow, 29, of North Wolcott was killed by electric shock yesterday while repairing a radio aerial. A metal ladder on which he was standing touched high-tension electric wires.

ADIRONDACK TRAILWAYS

SHOKAN

Shokan, July 19—Kenneth Kelder of Maple Hill was numbered among the many callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday.

George, Edwin and Estelle Slavin are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Slavin of the mountain road.

J. D. Glass, formerly of Panama City, Fla., and more recently a resident of Poughkeepsie, was a caller in the village center Monday.

Mrs. M. Arnesen of New York is spending three weeks at the Christiansen home on VanSteenburgh Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Davis of the Onteora Trail and Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, Olive Bridge, motored to Niagara Falls last week.

Local traffic observers confirm the recent Freeman statement that vacationists are turning to travel instead of sojourns in the mountains. The great Ashokan Reservoir still is Ulster county's ace drawing card for tourists, though the multiplicity of stickers which adorn the rear side windows of visiting cars attest the popularity of many other well known scenic spots.

Members of the Fred and Robert Haver families are spending some time at the R. Haver camp in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. E. Lukacs has opened her large house along the East Butternutkill to city guests. Mr. Lukacs has been employed in New Jersey for the past year.

Anna Gruber, Kingston; Mrs. John Adels of Ashokan and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Elmendorf enjoyed a trip to Pittsfield, Mass.

Mrs. John Adsit and two children have returned home after spending two weeks in Long Branch, N. J.

Sunday, July 22 marks another birthday for Elizabeth Giles, resident of the church hill neighborhood of Shokan. Miss Giles, a member of the Shokan Reformed Church, was born and brought up in this section, one of six children of Benjamin and Alida Eckert) Giles.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Swenson, formerly of Brooklyn, have built and sold three bungalows near their home along the mountainside back of Shokan. The houses though not fully completed, are occupied by summer people. Ben, who does his own carpentering, expects to put up more bungalows on his 54 acre tract of abandoned fields and woodland.

Wood, founder of the American Woolen Company. Mrs. Wood died July 6 at the age of 91. A bequest of $10,000 was made to the Children's Village at Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.

A Generous Offer To Weak, Nervous, Run-Down Folks--

Who Fail To Get the Right Amount of Vitamins and Minerals From the Food They Eat, says United Cut Rate Pharmacy

"Try this new Vitamin-Iron-Iodine reconstructive tonic for just 30 days, and see if it doesn't increase your strength and endurance. You must be convinced—be fully satisfied, or it won't cost you a penny."

This news should bring good cheer to the Thin, Nutritionally Ailing, Run-Down Delicate folks in this town.

FERRIZAN is a marvelous new reconstructive tonic combining Iron and Iodine with Vitamins—far more effective than just vitamins alone. A true dietary supplement. Gets results quicker and does not blacken the teeth or injure them in any way, nor does Ferrizan upset the stomach. So do not confuse Ferrizan with old-fashioned Iron Tonics. Ferrizan is the modern way—to help you get the important B Vitamins—the Iron (for blood) and Iodine (for the ductless glands) to correct inadequacies and help you regain and maintain a more normal healthy body.

It is almost incredible the way run-down, delicate, anemic folks—people who seem to be ailing most of the time, begin to perk up when they start taking Ferrizan with their meals. Sunken cheeks and other hollows should fill out through better assimilation of the food . . . Sallowness due to iron-impoverished blood often gives way to a healthier color . . . and as you feel stronger, nervousness should cease up; you may feel like a million dollars—better—younger—brighter, all because you've given your body, blood and glands, through Ferrizan, the deficiency vitamins and minerals you so sorely may have needed.

Accept This Generous Offer

"Take Ferrizan for 30 days and then if you are in any way dissatisfied, your money will be cheerfully refunded," says UNITED CUT RATE PHARMACY.

NOT NECESSARILY SECOND INVITATION

A reader explains: "About six months ago I received an invitation to a wedding. (A girl I had met while on vacation.) I got a new dress and was all set to go. Then came a card announcing the marriage had been postponed until further notice because of illness. As this was out of town I didn't hear until the other day that the marriage had taken place long ago. Shouldn't I have been invited a second time?"

Not necessarily, because of the bride's convalescence it may very well have been that none but the family and fewest intimate friends were invited.

Addressing Note of Sympathy

Dear Mrs. Post: Was it out of order for me to address a note of sympathy to the daughter of the deceased and not include her husband? I did include the whole family in the wording of my note but my husband thinks the note should have been sent to both just the same.

Answer: You were quite right in addressing the wife alone.

Separate Thank-You

Dear Mrs. Post: When a wedding gift is sent from a group, each name listed, must I write a thank-you note to each one?

Answer: A note to each one is obviously most courteous. Each can, of course, be very brief.

Duties of Waitresses

Dear Mrs. Post: From which side shall I instruct the waitresses in my restaurant to place and remove dishes?

On Saturday afternoon, July 14 there was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church, a wedding, when Miss Christine Ruth Straub, only daughter of Mrs. Francis J. Straub of this city, became the bride of Albert Loughran Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Cook. The church was decorated with stephanotis and baskets of white gladioli. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James J. Keating, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist at the church, and Miss Yolanda Modica sang Schubert's Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus. With the first notes of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin sounding through the space of the sanctuary, the bridal party entered the church.

Her veil of silk tulle was attached to a cap of matching lace, trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and ivy. The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Gilbert R. Straub, of this city.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Robert Carpenter, who as matron of honor wore a rust colored velvet and nylon net gown, with matching jacket. She carried yellow gladioli and ivy with a tiara of ivy in her hair.

Bruce Anthony Miller was best man and the ushers were Frederick Dressel, Jr., of this city, and George Vogel of Stone Ridge. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the bridal party left the church for the Governor Clinton Hotel, where a small reception was held and a wedding collation served. Music was furnished by Roger Baer at the piano and solovox.

The couple then left for their wedding trip north. For traveling the bride wore a navy taffeta suit with matching accessories. Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 280 Clinton avenue.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN IN BRIEF
THE BUSINESS MAN NEEDS THE TOWNSEND PLAN. We realize fully that the World cannot long exist if we are to continue with a succession of World Wars. And Wars stimulate business principally because they take a large group of men and women out of the ordinary channels of industry and put them in uniform. Also, those not pressed into direct war service, find themselves readily employed at a comforting wage and are thus able to spend liberally for goods which businesses have to sell. But after every war, there follows a decided slump in business as service-people return and try to find civilian employment. Unemployment grows steadily because the ingenious machinery invented during each war to hasten production, displaces manpower. But the Townsend Plan in operation would absorb this unemployment no matter how many machines were put to use, because it would remove a group from industry, those 60 and over, give them an adequate Pension, or, Annuity, and require that they spend it each 30 days. And the commodities this group would purchase would create a constant demand, thereby affording jobs to those younger. Those in the age group of 60 and over, are so well distributed throughout our country, that statistics show that they comprise 10% of every community. With continuous buying-power vested in the hands of 10% of the population, MR. BUSINESSMAN, patronage of customers is assured. So, get behind The Townsend Plan. Join Kingston Townsend Club No. 1, meeting at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street, the second and fourth Wednesdays monthly. For further information call Mrs. Mildred Stoller, 5872-W.

Christine R. Straub Is Married Saturday To Albert L. Cook

On Saturday afternoon, July 14 there was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church, a wedding, when Miss Christine Ruth Straub, only daughter of Mrs. Francis J. Straub of this city, became the bride of Albert Loughran Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert N. Cook. The church was decorated with stephanotis and baskets of white gladioli. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James J. Keating, assistant pastor of St. Joseph's Church. Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist at the church, and Miss Yolanda Modica sang Schubert's Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus. With the first notes of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin sounding through the space of the sanctuary, the bridal party entered the church.

The bride was indeed lovely in her exquisite ballerina length gown of chantilly lace over satin and net. The gown was made with a fitted bodice and full skirt, over which she wore a matching jacket. Her veil of silk tulle was attached to a cap of matching lace, trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of orchids, stephanotis and ivy. The bride was escorted to the altar by her brother, Gilbert R. Straub, of this city.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Robert Carpenter, who as matron of honor wore a rust colored velvet and nylon net gown, with matching jacket. She carried yellow gladioli and ivy with a tiara of ivy in her hair.

Bruce Anthony Miller was best man and the ushers were Frederick Dressel, Jr., of this city, and George Vogel of Stone Ridge. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was played as the bridal party left the church for the Governor Clinton Hotel, where a small reception was held and a wedding collation served. Music was furnished by Roger Baer at the piano and solovox.

The couple then left for their wedding trip north. For traveling the bride wore a navy taffeta suit with matching accessories. Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 280 Clinton avenue.

THE TOWNSEND PLAN IN BRIEF

THE BUSINESS MAN NEEDS THE TOWNSEND PLAN. We realize fully that the World cannot long exist if we are to continue with a succession of World Wars. And Wars stimulate business principally because they take a large group of men and women out of the ordinary channels of industry and put them in uniform. Also, those not pressed into direct war service, find themselves readily employed at a comforting wage and are thus able to spend liberally for goods which businesses have to sell. But after every war, there follows a decided slump in business as service-people return and try to find civilian employment. Unemployment grows steadily because the ingenious machinery invented during each war to hasten production, displaces manpower. But the Townsend Plan in operation would absorb this unemployment no matter how many machines were put to use, because it would remove a group from industry, those 60 and over, give them an adequate Pension, or, Annuity, and require that they spend it each 30 days. And the commodities this group would purchase would create a constant demand, thereby affording jobs to those younger. Those in the age group of 60 and over, are so well distributed throughout our country, that statistics show that they comprise 10% of every community. With continuous buying-power vested in the hands of 10% of the population, MR. BUSINESSMAN, patronage of customers is assured. So, get behind The Townsend Plan. Join Kingston Townsend Club No. 1, meeting at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street, the second and fourth Wednesdays monthly. For further information call Mrs. Mildred Stoller, 5672-W.

Raichle Is Honored By Railway Express

John Joseph Raichle, foreman in the Vehicle Division of the Railway Express Agency at 219 East 42nd street, New York, was presented this week with an Elgin watch upon the completion of 50 years of continuous service in the express business.

W. H. Hoffman, superintendent of Vehicle Division, made the presentation at a brief ceremony held at 65 Broadway where Raichle's many friends and business acquaintances were gathered.

Raichle, who is a native of Kingston, began working in the express business July 16, 1901 at New York. He also held the positions of clerk and cashier with the agency.

Still active and keenly interested in the express business after half a century of work, Raichle said that he looks back over many interesting experiences and unusual shipments and it has been interesting to watch the express company progress with the times, changing from the horse drawn wagons to a complete motorization and the addition of air express.

Raichle made no immediate plans for the future except to continue working.

Rains Delay Haying

Albany, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Unseasonal rains drenching the state's vital hay crop have many New York farmers worried. Hay, a prime feed for the state's multi-million-dollar dairy industry, usually is harvested by July 4, but heavy rains have delayed the season 10 days to a month, a spot survey by The Associated Press shows. Moreover, much of the grain reaching the barn has been of poor quality.

Olive Legion Auction Aug. 11

Collection of antiques, attic treasures or anything which can be sold at an auction will be started by members of Olive Memorial Post, 1627, American Legion Saturday, July 21.

Items collected will be sold at public auction Saturday, August 11, at the Town Garage, West Shokan. The Legion plans to use the proceeds from this auction to further the several community projects in which they are currently engaged. Among the activities sponsored or projected by the youngest Legion Post in Ulster county are three Boy Scout Troops, an active recreational program for youngsters at present centering around a four-team baseball league, a drum and bugle corps in the making and a proposed memorial to service men in the form of community service centers.

The committee in charge of the auction plan to continue the collections on the two succeeding Saturdays. Every house in the town of Olive will be visited.

The ladies of the auxiliary are planning to assist on the day of the auction with a refreshment stand.

Members of the committee include Donald F. Bishop, chairman; Charles H. Weidner, post commander, Edward Van Kleeck, adjutant; William Frankle, William Stevens and H. Edgar Timmerman.

Early Saboteurs

The Luddites referred to in English history were workers of the industrial centers of England who, from 1811 to 1818, systematically wrecked machinery, to which they attributed the prevailing unemployment.

Rains Delay Haying

Albany, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Unseasonal rains drenching the state's vital hay crop have many New York farmers worried. Hay, a prime feed for the state's multi-million-dollar dairy industry, usually is harvested by July 4, but heavy rains have delayed the season 10 days to a month, a spot survey by The Associated Press shows. Moreover, much of the grain reaching the barn has been of poor quality.

Colonials Release Allen and Aspromonte; to Sign Three New Players

Amsterdam, Oneonta Here Next Two Games

Front office activity overshadowed two successive postponements in Gloversville, as the Colonials prepared to meet the Amsterdam Rugmakers in a single game tonight at 9 o'clock at municipal stadium.

Two, and possibly three, new players are expected to wear the spangles of the Colonials, for the two-game set with Amsterdam tonight and Oneonta on Saturday.

General Manager Addison Jones today announced the releases of catcher Jack Allen and infielder-outfielder, Charlie Aspromonte.

Allen's release had been expected since Manager John Sosh, a catcher by trade, took over command from Sam Piacentino. Allen was used as catcher and outfielder.

Aspromonte had been used only sparingly since the arrival of Bill O'Brien.

RELEASED

Jack Allen, one of the few veterans of the Kingston Colonials' original 1951 starting lineup, was given his release by the Colonials yesterday. Used as a catcher and outfielder, Allen was batting a weak .209.

New Pitcher Due

New players tentatively signed are veteran William Zollo, minor league veteran who is expected to fill the role of "spot" and relief pitcher and Morris Tortoriello, a pitcher-outfielder.

Zollo played with Fargo-Moorhead in the Class C North Dakota League and was with the Watertown Athletics of the Class C Border League before the circuit folded.

Tortoriello, an outfielder who can also pitch, batted .287 for Kingston, Ontario in the Border League last season. He showed fair power, with 118 hits in 412 at bats, with 33 doubles, six triples and five home runs. He knocked in 59 runs.

Third Player Due

Neither of these players had been signed to a contract at noon today, but they are expected in town during the afternoon and very likely will appear at the ball park to don Colonial uniforms.

Jones also announced that a new infielder, only last name known, Edwards, may join the local forces in the next day or so.

The two releases and the addition of Zollo and Tortoriello indicate the start of a housecleaning by Manager John Sosh, who has had a few days in which to look over the Colonial stock pile.

Since Edwards is an infielder, it appears that the jig is up for one of the infield quartet.

Vince Canepa or Charlie Ayers will get the call tonight against the hard hitting Rugmakers.

Penn Backs Down On TV Squabble

Los Angeles, July 20 (AP)—University of Pennsylvania, the NCAA's prodigal son, was back home today amid handshakes all around, and television, college football's fatted calf, will be killed off as scheduled.

That was the announcement yesterday from Professor Hugh C. Willett, president of the NCAA. He said Penn has finally agreed to the NCAA's plan for an experimental moratorium on football telecasts this autumn.

Thus ended a two months controversy which began when Penn balked at the video curtailment and announced its intention to televise all its home games.

The NCAA retaliated by declaring Penn a member "not in good standing" and subject to removal by vote of the membership. All major universities and colleges belong to the Association.

Willett said a statement from Francis Murray, the Penn Athletic Director, informed him of Penn's decision to string along with the NCAA. The university agreed to televise its games in compliance with the controlled plan of the entire membership.

This plan, adopted last January, calls for varying limitations on football telecasts with a view toward determining the effect of video on attendance and gate receipts. Of the games that are televised, the NCAA is to get 60 per cent of the proceeds and the competing schools 40 per cent.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Pittsfield Electrics flubbed a chance last night to tie the rain-idled Oneonta Red Sox for first place in the Canadian-American League's second-half standings.

The fifth-place Rome Colonels edged the invading Electrics, 4-3, in the first game of a doubleheader. Pittsfield's Bill Glendenning shut out the home club, 3-0, in the nightcap on a two-hitter.

The Amsterdam-at-Oneonta singleton and the Kingston-at-Gloversville twin bill were rained out.

A double Pittsfield win last night would have left the Electrics and the Sox tied with 11 victories and three defeats each. Oneonta won the first-half of the loop's split schedule by a half game over Pittsfield.

Rome collected what proved to be the winning margin in the first game on Joe Pancoe's homer with two on in the third inning.

Buck Etchison, Rome's manager-first baseman, got a homer in the second inning with none on.

In the finale, rightfielder Sal Arduini's scratch infield single and pitcher Dave Bash's double were the only hits collected off Glendenning. Bash was the loser.

Citation Has Run Last Race

Inglewood, Calif., July 20 (AP)—"The big horse is through."

With those five words, finis was written to the racing career of Citation, the first million dollar winner in turf history and a thoroughbred many call the greatest of all time.

Jimmy Jones, the Calumet's trainer, who has guided Citation since first he groped as a shaky-legged yearling in his native Kentucky, said the words. He said them with tears in his eyes, sadness in his voice.

Retirement of Citation at the nice old age of six was the wish of Mrs. Warren Wright. She is the widow of the master of the Calumet farm in the bluegrass country and it was her husband who set the final goal for Citation.

The goal was $1,000,000. Citation hit and passed the mark last Saturday when he won the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup handicap. The $100,000 sent his all-time earnings up to $1,085,760.

The mark will stand for a long time. There is no one on the scene now, from all appearances, able to threaten it.

The record shows that Citation raced 45 times. Of those starts, he captured 32 wins. He ran second 10 times—seven during a troublesome year of 1950. He raced third twice, when he was just getting going again early this spring. He ran out of the money but once—fifth, last May.

Last Curtain

Westbury, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Proximity, the greatest money-winning trotter of all time, will make her final appearance tonight—but not in a race. Proximity will be led around Roosevelt Raceway in a final public appearance before retirement.

Practice Game Set for 6:15 at Athletic Field

State Tournament Opens on Sunday

The Old Capital Motors Legion baseball team, scheduled to start state tournament play on Sunday in Monticello, will play a practice game against a Saugerties squad at 6:15 p. m., today at the Athletic Field.

The Saugerties team is in the same age group as the Legion Juniors and is managed by Joe Benjamin, a veteran baseball figure.

Kingston has drawn Neversink Valley Post of Fallsburg as its first round opponent in a game set for 2 p. m. Sunday in Monticello.

The Neversink Post squad is undefeated in the Sullivan County League with five straight victories, according to information received by Andy Murphy, Jr.

16 Players Picked

Coach Tommy Maines has a sixteen-player roster ready for the rigors of the state tournament, with virtually all of the topflight high school players in the group.

The pitching staff numbers four standout flingers in Jerry Bechtold, Sal Misasi, George Telepas and Frank Secreto.

The final roster follows:

Jerry Bechtold, Sal Misasi, Hank Albright, Frank Leirey, George Telepas, Bob Baumer, Bob Shelightner, Don Lyons, Orrin Smith, Bill DuBois, Frank Secreto, Don Greenberg, Van Loan, Bill Short and Bruce Bechtold.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting: Bob Avila, Indians—his single—fourth of the day—drove in Bob Lemon with the tying run and he scored all the way from first on Sam Chapman's single with the tally that beat the Red Sox, 5-4, in 11 innings.

Pitching: Morris Martin, Athletics—blanked the Tigers, 5-0, on five hits and no walks in the first game of a doubleheader. The Tigers won the second, 4-3.

The Scoreboard

Roberto Francisco Avila, fleet-footed Cleveland second baseman, is the main reason why the Tribe has the "Indian sign" on Boston and is only one and a half games behind the American League-leading Red Sox today.

It was Avila's batting and fielding yesterday that gave the Indians a 5-4 victory over Boston in 11 innings, their ninth win in 15 meetings with the pace-setters. That left the Tribe still in fourth place, but only two percentage points behind the third-place New York Yankees.

The world champion Yanks bowed to Chicago, 2-1, as the White Sox bounced back to within three percentage points of the top. Only 17 points and a game and a half separate the first four clubs in one of the tightest races on record.

Rain played havoc with the National League schedule wiping out every game. The American managed to play all theirs. Detroit and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader. The Tigers won the second game, 4-3, after Morris Martin had hurled the Athletics to a 5-0 shutout victory in the opener. In a night game the St. Louis Browns beat Washington, 9 to 7.

Red Sox Cousins

It wasn't until this year that Avila discovered he had "cousins" as far north os Boston. In fact, the stocky little Mexican from Vera Cruz has a flock of 'em. They all pitch for the Red Sox.

In 15 games against Boston, Avila has socked Red Sox pitchers for 28 hits in 62 times at bat, a rousing .452 batting average. Three of his four homers have been banged off Boston twirlers, all in one game. Seven of Bob's 24 RBI's have been at their expense, too.

Avila, a singles hitter (only 15 of his 87 hits have gone for extra bases), slapped four yesterday to lead the Indians to their triumph. His fourth single scored pinch hitter Bob Lemon with the tying run after the Sox had tallied once in the top of the 11th. With two out, Sam Chapman singled behind third. Left fielder Ted Williams, expecting Avila to stop at third, held the ball momentarily. Avila, with a burst of speed, surprised Williams by keeping right on running to beat Ted's throw to the plate.

After the game, Avila said "I looked out of the corner of my eye. I think Williams is going to throw to second. I dig for the plate." Third base coach Jake Flowers had given him the signal to stop, but Bobby whizzed right through the red light.

Until the 25-year-old Avila put the finishing touches on his batting spree, it looked like big Clyde Vollmer of Boston would once again emerge as the batting star. The husky outfielder smashed two homers. The first, a two-run belt, put the Red Sox in front 2-0 in the second. The second came in the 11th and put Boston ahead, 4-3. The Red Sox found themselves behind, 3-2, in the ninth. But a pinch single by Vern Stephens tied the count. Early Wynn pitched the entire game for Cleveland.

Colonials Release Allen and Aspromonte; to Sign Three New Players

Amsterdam, Oneonta Here Next Two Games

Front office activity overshadowed two successive postponements in Gloversville, as the Colonials prepared to meet the Amsterdam Rugmakers in a single game tonight at 9 o'clock at municipal stadium.

Two, and possibly three, new players are expected to wear the spangles of the Colonials, for the two-game set with Amsterdam tonight and Oneonta on Saturday.

General Manager Addison Jones today announced the releases of catcher Jack Allen and infielder-outfielder, Charlie Aspromonte.

Allen's release had been expected since Manager John Sosh, a catcher by trade, took over command from Sam Piacentino. Allen was used as catcher and outfielder.

Aspromonte had been used only sparingly since the arrival of Bill O'Brien.

RELEASED

Jack Allen, one of the few veterans of the Kingston Colonials' original 1951 starting lineup, was given his release by the Colonials yesterday. Used as a catcher and outfielder, Allen was batting a weak .209.

New Pitcher Due

New players tentatively signed are veteran William Zollo, minor league veteran who is expected to fill the role of "spot" and relief pitcher and Morris Tortoriello, a pitcher-outfielder.

Zollo played with Fargo-Moorhead in the Class C North Dakota League and was with the Watertown Athletics of the Class C Border League before the circuit folded.

Tortoriello, an outfielder who can also pitch, batted .287 for Kingston, Ontario in the Border League last season. He showed fair power, with 118 hits in 412 at bats, with 33 doubles, six triples and five home runs. He knocked in 59 runs.

Third Player Due

Neither of these players had been signed to a contract at noon today, but they are expected in town during the afternoon and very likely will appear at the ball park to don Colonial uniforms.

Jones also announced that a new infielder, only last name known, Edwards, may join the local forces in the next day or so.

The two releases and the addition of Zollo and Tortoriello indicate the start of a housecleaning by Manager John Sosh, who has had a few days in which to look over the Colonial stock pile.

Since Edwards is an infielder, it appears that the jig is up for one of the infield quartet.

Vince Canepa or Charlie Ayers will get the call tonight against the hard hitting Rugmakers.

Penn Backs Down On TV Squabble

Los Angeles, July 20 (AP)—University of Pennsylvania, the NCAA's prodigal son, was back home today amid handshakes all around, and television, college football's fatted calf, will be killed off as scheduled.

That was the announcement yesterday from Professor Hugh C. Willett, president of the NCAA. He said Penn has finally agreed to the NCAA's plan for an experimental moratorium on football telecasts this autumn.

Thus ended a two months controversy which began when Penn balked at the video curtailment and announced its intention to televise all its home games.

The NCAA retaliated by declaring Penn a member "not in good standing" and subject to removal by vote of the membership. All major universities and colleges belong to the Association.

Willett said a statement from Francis Murray, the Penn Athletic Director, informed him of Penn's decision to string along with the NCAA. The university agreed to televise its games in compliance with the controlled plan of the entire membership.

This plan, adopted last January, calls for varying limitations on football telecasts with a view toward determining the effect of video on attendance and gate receipts. Of the games that are televised, the NCAA is to get 60 per cent of the proceeds and the competing schools 40 per cent.

Wiltwyck Winners

Mrs. Robert Cullum and Mrs. J. Haviland Barley, playing with a combined handicap of 27, had a net 28 to win the best-ball nine hole tournament on Wednesday at Wiltwyck Golf Club. Mrs. Ivan Whitmore and Mrs. Haskell Naigles playing a combined handicap of 31 had a net 31.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Pittsfield Electrics flubbed a chance last night to tie the rain-idled Oneonta Red Sox for first place in the Canadian-American League's second-half standings.

The fifth-place Rome Colonels edged the invading Electrics, 4-3, in the first game of a doubleheader. Pittsfield's Bill Glendenning shut out the home club, 3-0, in the nightcap on a two-hitter.

The Amsterdam-at-Oneonta singleton and the Kingston-at-Gloversville twin bill were rained out.

A double Pittsfield win last night would have left the Electrics and the Sox tied with 11 victories and three defeats each. Oneonta won the first-half of the loop's split schedule by a half game over Pittsfield.

Rome collected what proved to be the winning margin in the first game on Joe Pancoe's homer with two on in the third inning.

Buck Etchison, Rome's manager-first baseman, got a homer in the second inning with none on.

In the finale, rightfielder Sal Arduini's scratch infield single and pitcher Dave Bash's double were the only hits collected off Glendenning. Bash was the loser.

Citation Has Run Last Race

Inglewood, Calif., July 20 (AP)—"The big horse is through."

With those five words, finis was written to the racing career of Citation, the first million dollar winner in turf history and a thoroughbred many call the greatest of all time.

Jimmy Jones, the Calumet's trainer, who has guided Citation since first he groped as a shaky-legged yearling in his native Kentucky, said the words. He said them with tears in his eyes, sadness in his voice.

Retirement of Citation at the nice old age of six was the wish of Mrs. Warren Wright. She is the widow of the master of the Calumet farm in the bluegrass country, and it was her husband who set the final goal for Citation.

The goal was $1,000,000. Citation hit and passed the mark last Saturday when he won the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup handicap. The $100,000 sent his all-time earnings up to $1,085,760.

The mark will stand for a long time. There is no one on the scene now, from all appearances, able to threaten it.

The record shows that Citation raced 45 times. Of those starts, he captured 32 wins. He ran second 10 times—seven during a troublesome year of 1950. He raced third twice, when he was just getting going again early this spring. He ran out of the money but once—fifth, last May.

Last Curtain

Westbury, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Proximity, the greatest money-winning trotter of all time, will make her final appearance tonight—but not in a race. Proximity will be led around Roosevelt Raceway in a final public appearance before retirement.

Practice Game Set for 6:15 at Athletic Field

State Tournament Opens on Sunday

The Old Capital Motors Legion baseball team, scheduled to start state tournament play on Sunday in Monticello, will play a practice game against a Saugerties squad at 6:15 p. m., today at the Athletic Field.

The Saugerties team is in the same age group as the Legion Juniors and is managed by Joe Benjamin, a veteran baseball figure.

Kingston has drawn Neversink Valley Post of Fallsburg as its first round opponent in a game set for 2 p. m. Sunday in Monticello.

The Neversink Post squad is undefeated in the Sullivan County League with five straight victories, according to information received by Andy Murphy, Jr.

16 Players Picked

Coach Tommy Maines has a sixteen-player roster ready for the rigors of the state tournament, with virtually all of the topflight high school players in the group.

The pitching staff numbers four standout flingers in Jerry Bechtold, Sal Misasi, George Telepas and Frank Secreto.

The final roster follows:

Jerry Bechtold, Sal Misasi, Hank Albright, Frank Leirey, George Telepas, Bob Baumer, Bob Shelightner, Don Lyons, Orrin Smith, Bill DuBois, Frank Secreto, Don Greenberg, Van Loan, Bill Short and Bruce Bechtold.

Bastaad, Sweden—Sweden won the final two singles matches in its European zone semi-final Davis Cup test against the Philippines for a 5-0 margin.

Inglewood—Citation, the only million dollar winner in racing history, was retired to stud.

New York—Windflower ($18.50) won the six-furlong Gun Hill Allowance at Jamaica.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting: Bob Avila, Indians—his single—fourth of the day—drove in Bob Lemon with the tying run and he scored all the way from first on Sam Chapman's single with the tally that beat the Red Sox, 5-4, in 11 innings.

Pitching: Morris Martin, Athletics—blanked the Tigers, 5-0, on five hits and no walks in the first game of a doubleheader. The Tigers won the second, 4-3.

The Scoreboard

Roberto Francisco Avila, fleet-footed Cleveland second baseman, is the main reason why the Tribe has the "Indian sign" on Boston and is only one and a half games behind the American League-leading Red Sox today.

It was Avila's batting and fielding yesterday that gave the Indians a 5-4 victory over Boston in 11 innings, their ninth win in 15 meetings with the pace-setters. That left the Tribe still in fourth place, but only two percentage points behind the third-place New York Yankees.

The world champion Yanks bowed to Chicago, 2-1, as the White Sox bounced back to within three percentage points of the top. Only 17 points and a game and a half separate the first four clubs in one of the tightest races on record.

Rain played havoc with the National League schedule wiping out every game. The American managed to play all theirs. Detroit and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader. The Tigers won the second game, 4-3, after Morris Martin had hurled the Athletics to a 5-0 shutout victory in the opener. In a night game the St. Louis Browns beat Washington, 9 to 7.

Red Sox Cousins

It wasn't until this year that Avila discovered he had "cousins" as far north os Boston. In fact, the stocky little Mexican from Vera Cruz has a flock of 'em. They all pitch for the Red Sox.

In 15 games against Boston, Avila has socked Red Sox pitchers for 28 hits in 62 times at bat, a rousing .452 batting average. Three of his four homers have been banged off Boston twirlers, all in one game. Seven of Bob's 24 RBI's have been at their expense, too.

Avila, a singles hitter (only 15 of his 87 hits have gone for extra bases), slapped four yesterday to lead the Indians to their triumph. His fourth single scored pinch hitter Bob Lemon with the tying run after the Sox had tallied once in the top of the 11th. With two out, Sam Chapman singled behind third. Left fielder Ted Williams, expecting Avila to stop at third, held the ball momentarily. Avila, with a burst of speed, surprised Williams by keeping right on running to beat Ted's throw to the plate.

After the game, Avila said "I looked out of the corner of my eye. I think Williams is going to throw to second. I dig for the plate." Third base coach Jake Flowers had given him the signal to stop, but Bobby whizzed right through the red light.

Until the 25-year-old Avila put the finishing touches on his batting spree, it looked like big Clyde Vollmer of Boston would once again emerge as the batting star. The husky outfielder smashed two homers. The first, a two-run belt, put the Red Sox in front 2-0 in the second. The second came in the 11th and put Boston ahead, 4-3. The Red Sox found themselves behind, 3-2, in the ninth. But a pinch single by Vern Stephens tied the count. Early Wynn pitched the entire game for Cleveland.

Beicherts Register 13th Straight Win

Still Hold 1½ Game Margin

Beichert's Studebakers rolled to their 13th straight conquest in the City Softball League this week with a convincing 12 to 1 triumph over Subway Grill, third place club.

The victory kept Beicherts 1½ games ahead of the runnerup American Legion club.

Although the Legion team refuses to be counted out of the running, time is running out for them.

The high-flying Studebakers can nail down the championship by playing just .600 ball in their remaining five games while the Legionnaires, who still have four to go, must win them all.

Three big frames, the third, fourth and fifth, turning in the 12 runs, were enough for Beicherts to register their 13th victory in 13 starts this week.

Joe Fauts was the leading batter of the night with three hits and a pair of walks.

The score:

Beicherts	...	003	450	0—	12	15	2
Subway	....	000	001	0—	1	8	4

Batteries: Weeks and Matheus; Amato, Bigler and Scholar.

Meanwhile, the Legion kept its hopes alive with a 12 to 2 bombardment of the last place Barclay Knitters at Block Park.

The Legion club pushed over six runs in the first and breezed to the victory.

Top batters were Ange Corrado with 3 for 3, Cliff Davis 2 for 4 and Don Riehl with 2 for 4.

The score:

Chez Emile, battling for a post in the post-season playoffs, pounded out on 18 to 4 victory over the Central Lunch at Forsyth Park.

Art Gill's grand slam homer in the fourth opened the gates for the Chezzies to a big 12-run inning. George Gläser also whacked a homer in the uprising.

In another free-hitting affair, Sickler's Delivery scored a 12 to 5 victory over Duke's Tavern at Hutton Park.

Four Share Lead In Blue Ribbons

Milwaukee, July 20 (AP)—A field of 171 golfers headed for the halfway point of the $20,000 Blue Ribbon open tournament today with only 14 boasting sub-par figures.

A stiff cross wind, which lashed the back nine of the North Hills Country Club Course in particular yesterday, was blamed for the soaring scores. The 6,257 yard layout generally is considered a soft touch, noted more for its beauty than for its toughness.

Sam Snead, the West Virginian who topped all pros in earnings the past two years, shared top billing with three other "play for pay" performers as the second day of the 72-hole medal play meet opened.

Snead and his three cohorts—Ed (Porky) Oliver, Wilmington, Dela.; Glenn Teal, Memphis, Tenn., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.—had four under par 67's on the 35-36—71 links.

Today's second 18-hole stint will trim the field sharply. Only the 90 low scorers at the halfway point will continue through the final two days, the winner receiving $2,750 around sundown Sunday.

Brandeis University To Start Grid Slate

Waltham, Mass., July 20 (AP)—Hal Moffie of Brooklyn, a recent Harvard star, today was named backfield coach on Brandeis University's varsity football staff. He was an assistant coach at Reading High School last fall.

Brandeis will launch its first varsity football campaign under the tutelage of head coach Benny Friedman, the Michigan All-America, backfield coach Harry Stein, formerly of City College of New York, line coach Irv Heller, late of Boston University, and end coach George Kenneally, an old-time St. Bonaventure and professional star.

Brandeis' initial varsity football schedule includes five home games that will be played here at Marcus Field, which has a 6,000 seating capacity.

The schedule: September 29, New Hampshire; October 6, Hofstra at Hempstead, N. Y.; 13, American International; 20, Wayne at Detroit; 27, Bradley; November 3, Champlain at Plattsburg, N. Y.; 10, Rider; 24, Arnold.

Double Bill

The Rhinebeck Speedway will feature the first card of midget motor races in three years tonight at the Dutchess county track. The regular weekly stock car program will be staged on Saturday night.

Never Say Die

New Liskeard, Ont. (AP)—James W. Billow of Henwood Township, who still enjoys driving a team of horses, is at present building a new house with the help of his wife. They have just celebrated their 65th wedding anniversary.

Heavy Program Set at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Grand Circuit drivers, idled two successive nights by rain, hope to run off six stake races worth $48,750 tonight at Saratoga Raceway. Four of the events were held over.

On tap were the $10,000 Runnymede three-year-old trot, the $10,000 Empire State free-for-all pace, the $10,000 Bostwick two-year-old trot, the $5,000 Ash Grove two-year-old pace, two divisions of the $3,750 Will Gahagan Memorial trot, the $10,000 Arden free-for-all trot and a $5,000 overnight, the first half of the daily double.

Two elimination heats in the Runnymede will precede the parimutuel program.

Raceway officials looked for a crowd topping the 8,173 record set July 16, 1949 and they figure a crowd of 8,000 would break the track betting mark of $212,297 established Aug. 3, 1946.

Most of the top Hambletonian candidates will race in the twice-postponed Runnymede, one of the last previews to the $90,000 classic at Goshen, Aug. 8. The field includes Betsy Volo, Mighty Fine, Bernie Hanover, Watcha, Mainliner and House of Lords.

Psychological Illness

Singapore (AP)—A local man perspired and turned purple. Then, he became sick with fear and he left his place of business. Back home he called a doctor. But first he took a bath. He sighed with relief when the purple was washed away by the shower. The purpled man reconstructed his day's activities in search of an explanation. It came: in a chemist's shop a fan had blown dust in his face. The dust had been gentian violet powder. The heat of the day did the rest.

The Japanese invented the folding fan about 670 A.D., according to legend.

High Damage Expected

Boston, July 20 (AP)—Damage that may exceed $2,000,000 was counted today in the wake of a devastating electrical storm that swept parts of New England yesterday. Two men were struck and killed by lightning, areas were inundated and miles of power and telephone lines were downed by the storm. Reginald Farquarhson was killed by lightning as he worked in a General Cigar Corporation shed at Ellington, Conn. Several others were injured.

Javits Declines Post

New York, July 20 (AP)—U. S. Rep. Jacob K. Javits (R.-N.Y.), designated by the Republicans to run for city council president, the city's second highest office, filed a declination today. The Republicans are expected to name in his place State Rep. Henry J. Latham of Queens Village, in what shapes up as a four-man race.

Drying Dishes

Pouring hot water over dishes—after they've been washed—that are in a rack, has a double advantage. The water rinses off the soap and heats the dishes so they will air-dry in a short time.

Unlicensed, He Gets 120 Days

Dennis Dean, 45, Milton, an employe on the Paul Maxwell farm, will spend the next 120 days in the county jail as the result of an accident at the Castro Giovanni property on the Lattintown road. Dean was given 90 days in the county jail on his plea of guilty to being an unlicensed operator as a second offender and 30 days in jail for leaving the scene of an accident.

Dean was arrested by state police of Highland on complaint of Giovanni, who charged that Dean had damaged his property when he attempted to turn his car around on the highway and ran over the lawn, hedge and flowers of the Giovanni premises and then drove off.

Taken before Justice of the Peace F. C. Woolsey, Dean entered pleas of guilty to both charges.

The first shock was registered at 3:52:14 p. m., EST, and the second at 4:01:06 p. m. The Rev. Joseph Lynch, seismologist, estimated the distance at 4,500 miles from New York. Camden Prepares Big Welcome for Walcott

Jersey Joe Returns The Conquering Hero

Pittsburgh, July 20 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott got set today for "one of the happiest days of my life"—a day when he goes home to Camden, N. J. with the richest ring bauble of them all.

The newly crowned heavyweight champion of the world could hardly control his excitement as he prepared to leave for Camden. He expected to arrive at the airport there about 4 p. m. (E.S.T.).

"I just wander how many people will be on hand," said Felix Bocchicchio, manager of the Cinderella Man who won the championship in his fifth try by kayoing Ezzard Charles in the 7th round of a scheduled 15-rounder Wednesday night.

"When Joe went back to Camden after his first fight with Joe Louis in 1947 around 100,000 were on hand. There'll probably be more today."

The size of the crowd didn't worry Walcott. The 37-year-old quiet spoken champ said he was eager to "see my wife, six kiddies and all my friends."

Walcott wasn't a bit tired although he found his first 24 hours as champion more rigorous than a training grind.

Although Joe didn't sleep much after winning the championship he was one of the first of his entourage at the breakfast table yesterday.

He climaxed his first day as champ by motoring 160 miles to Harrisburg, Pa., and returning to the Steel City.

"Joe had a prior commitment to speak to a Negro Elks lodge at Harrisburg," Bocchicchio explained. "He had that date for a long time and winning the title didn't make any difference in his plans."

Roaring thousands greeted Walcott at Harrisburg, giving him a foretaste of what will happen at Camden.

Walcott appeared between games of a minor league doubleheader, declaring:

"I hope I'm still the same guy you used to know."

Making the trip to Harrisburg less than 24 hours after he was crowned champ, the New Jersey Negro made good on a promise many years ago that he'd visit Pennsylvania's state capital as soon as he won the heavyweight title.

Meets Charles

After appearing at the Elks Club Walcott went to a reception at nearby Hershey before returning to Pittsburgh.

Another date Walcott kept yesterday was with 10-year-old Jimmie Slater, who lived near his training camp at McKeesport. Day after day it was a familiar sight to see the husky Walcott and the little boy trudging along a country road.

Jimmie was only one of hundreds of kids who thronged after Walcott as he stopped at the amusement park where he had trained.

The champ had a word for each, a pat for some and he scribbled autographs for others.

"I just love kids, that's all," he said.

When photographers asked if he minded posing with Charles—who was staying in the hotel—he said, "I don't want to intrude on Ezzard but if he's willing to shake hands, so am I."

A few minutes later the two were grinning together but not saying much. Asked later what Charles had said, Jersey Joe said:

"He said he ran into my punch—my left hook that floored him and won me the championship of the world. But you know, I sort of steered that punch thataway."

"2¼¢ a mile!" C. W. Miller, contractor, says: "My Ford Pickup went 8,189 miles during the Economy Run with a running cost of only $182.16—less than 2¼¢ a mile! Average load was 1,200 lbs."

Beicherts Register 13th Straight Win

Still Hold 1½ Game Margin

Beichert's Studebakers rolled to their 13th straight conquest in the City Softball League this week with a convincing 12 to 1 triumph over Subway Grill, third place club.

The victory kept Beicherts 1½ games ahead of the runnerup American Legion club.

Although the Legion team refuses to be counted out of the running, time is running out for them.

The high-flying Studebakers can nail down the championship by playing just .500 ball in their remaining five games while the Legionnaires, who still have four to go, must win them all.

Three big frames, the third, fourth and fifth, turning in the 12 runs, were enough for Beicherts to register their 13th victory in 13 starts this week.

Joe Fauts was the leading batter of the night with three hits and a pair of walks.

The score:

Meanwhile, the Legion kept its hopes alive with a 12 to 2 bombardment of the last place Barclay Knitters at Block Park.

The Legion club pushed over six runs in the first and breezed to the victory.

Top batters were Ange Corrado with 3 for 3, Cliff Davis 2 for 4 and Don Riehl with 2 for 4.

Art Gill's grand slam homer in the fourth opened the gates for the Chezzies to a big 12-run inning. George Glaser also whacked a homer in the uprising.

Heavy Program Set at Saratoga

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Grand Circuit drivers, idled two successive nights by rain, hope to run off six stake races worth $48,750 tonight at Saratoga Raceway. Four of the events were held over.

On tap were the $10,000 Runnymede three-year-old trot, the $10,000 Empire State free-for-all pace, the $10,000 Bostwick two-year-old trot, the $5,000 Ash Grove two-year-old pace, two divisions of the $3,750 Will Gahagan Memorial trot, the $10,000 Arden free-for-all trot and a $5,000 overnight, the first half of the daily double.

Two elimination heats in the Runnymede will precede the parimutuel program.

Raceway officials looked for a crowd topping the 8,173 record set July 16, 1949 and they figure a crowd of 8,000 would break the track betting mark of $212,297 established Aug. 3, 1946.

Most of the top Hambletonian candidates will race in the twice-postponed Runnymede, one of the last previews to the $90,000 classic at Goshen, Aug. 8. The field includes Betsy Volo, Mighty Fine, Bernie Hanover, Watcha, Mainliner and House of Lords.

Four Share Lead In Blue Ribbons

Milwaukee, July 20 (AP)—A field of 171 golfers headed for the halfway point of the $20,000 Blue Ribbon open tournament today with only 14 boasting sub-par figures.

A stiff cross wind, which lashed the back nine of the North Hills Country Club Course in particular yesterday, was blamed for the soaring scores. The 6,257 yard layout generally is considered a soft touch, noted more for its beauty than for its toughness.

Sam Snead, the West Virginian who topped all pros in earnings the past two years, shared top billing with three other "play for pay" performers as the second day of the 72-hole medal play meet opened.

Snead and his three cohorts—Ed (Porky) Oliver, Wilmington, Dela.; Glenn Teal, Memphis, Tenn., and Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Tex.—had four under par 67's on the 35-36—71 links.

Today's second 18-hole stint will trim the field sharply. Only the 90 low scorers at the halfway point will continue through the final two days, the winner receiving $2,750 around sundown Sunday.

Brandeis University To Start Grid Slate

Waltham, Mass., July 20 (AP)—Hal Moffie of Brooklyn, a recent Harvard star, today was named backfield coach on Brandeis University's varsity football staff. He was an assistant coach at Reading High School last fall.

Brandeis will launch its first varsity football campaign under the tutelage of head coach Benny Friedman, the Michigan All-America, backfield coach Harry Stein, formerly of City College of New York, line coach Irv Heller, late of Boston University, and end coach George Kenneally, an old-time St. Bonaventure and professional star.

Brandeis' initial varsity football schedule includes five home games that will be played here at Marcus Field, which has a 6,000 seating capacity.

The schedule: September 29, New Hampshire; October 6, Hofstra at Hempstead, N. Y.; 13, American International; 20, Wayne at Detroit; 27, Bradley; November 3, Champlain at Plattsburg, N. Y.; 10, Rider; 24, Arnold.

Double Bill

The Rhinebeck Speedway will feature the first card of midget motor races in three years tonight at the Dutchess county track. The regular weekly stock car program will be staged on Saturday night.

Psychological Illness

Singapore (AP)—A local man perspired and turned purple. Then, he became sick with fear and he left his place of business. Back home he called a doctor. But first he took a bath. He sighed with relief when the purple was washed away by the shower. The purpled man reconstructed his day's activities in search of an explanation. It came: in a chemist's shop a fan had blown dust in his face. The dust had been gentian violet powder. The heat of the day did the rest.

The Japanese invented the folding fan about 670 A.D., according to legend.

Camden Prepares Big Welcome for Walcott

Jersey Joe Returns The Conquering Hero

Pittsburgh, July 20 (AP)—Jersey Joe Walcott got set today for "one of the happiest days of my life"—a day when he goes home to Camden, N. J. with the richest ring bauble of them all.

The newly crowned heavyweight champion of the world could hardly control his excitement as he prepared to leave for Camden. He expected to arrive at the airport there about 4 p. m. (E.S.T.).

"I just wander how many people will be on hand," said Felix Bocchicchio, manager of the Cinderella Man who won the championship in his fifth try by kayoing Ezzard Charles in the 7th round of a scheduled 15-rounder Wednesday night.

"When Joe went back to Camden after his first fight with Joe Louis in 1947 around 100,000 were on hand. There'll probably be more today."

The size of the crowd didn't worry Walcott. The 37-year-old quiet spoken champ said he was eager to "see my wife, six kiddies and all my friends."

Walcott wasn't a bit tired although he found his first 24 hours as champion more rigorous than a training grind.

Although Joe didn't sleep much after winning the championship he was one of the first of his entourage at the breakfast table yesterday.

He climaxed his first day as champ by motoring 160 miles to Harrisburg, Pa., and returning to the Steel City.

"Joe had a prior commitment to speak to a Negro Elks lodge at Harrisburg," Bocchicchio explained. "He had that date for a long time and winning the title didn't make any difference in his plans."

Roaring thousands greeted Walcott at Harrisburg, giving him a foretaste of what will happen at Camden.

Walcott appeared between games of a minor league doubleheader, declaring:

"I hope I'm still the same guy you used to know."

Making the trip to Harrisburg less than 24 hours after he was crowned champ, the New Jersey Negro made good on a promise many years ago that he'd visit Pennsylvania's state capital as soon as he won the heavyweight title.

Meets Charles

After appearing at the Elks Club Walcott went to a reception at nearby Hershey before returning to Pittsburgh.

Another date Walcott kept yesterday was with 10-year-old Jimmie Slater, who lived near his training camp at McKeesport. Day after day it was a familiar sight to see the husky Walcott and the little boy trudging along a country road.

Jimmie was only one of hundreds of kids who thronged after Walcott as he stopped at the amusement park where he had trained.

The champ had a word for each, a pat for some and he scribbled autographs for others.

"I just love kids, that's all," he said.

When photographers asked if he minded posing with Charles —who was staying in the hotel— he said, "I don't want to intrude on Ezzard but if he's willing to shake hands, so am I."

A few minutes later the two were grinning together but not saying much. Asked later what Charles had said, Jersey Joe said:

"He said he ran into my punch —my left hook that floored him and won me the championship of the world. But you know, I sort of steered that punch thataway."

"2¼¢ a mile!" C. W. Miller, contractor, says: "My Ford Pickup went 8,189 miles during the Economy Run with a running cost of only $182.16—less than 2¼¢ a mile! Average load was 1,200 lbs."

FORD TRUCK ECONOMY RUN

... this 50-million-mile, on-the-job Economy Run was the biggest thing of its kind in automotive history! 5,000 Ford Truck operators took part, representing every kind of trucking job. During the 6-month Run they kept daily records of gas, oil, maintenance and repair costs for their 1950 Ford Trucks with POWER PILOT. Result: convincing evidence that Ford Trucks cost little to run!

"1⅔¢ a mile!" James Stafford, poultryman, drove his Pick-up 8,195 miles in the Economy Run. "I spent a total of $115.94 for gas, oil and maintenance," he reports. "That's only 1.41 cents a mile!"

... 2 out of 3 run their FORD Pickups for less than 2½¢ a mile!

F.D.A.F.

Only the FORD ½-ton Pickup has the FACTS of its low running costs backed by nationwide, on-the-job owner expense records!

Ford Pickups, like all Ford Trucks, save you money because they're engineered to last longer, to absorb punishment . . : and because Ford Trucks have built-in economy features like the fully-proven POWER PILOT!

The Ford Truck POWER PILOT carburetion-ignition system gives you the most power from the least gas. Only FORD in the low-price field has it. The Ford Truck Economy Run results show the kind of savings YOU can expect with a Ford Pickup and the gas-saving Ford Truck POWER PILOT!

Only FORD gives you a choice of V-8 or Six!
And you get a choice of two new Ford CABS—5-STAR and, at slight added cost, 5-STAR EXTRA (shown). F-1 Pickup shown has new fingertip shift, new wider rear window, BIG grain-tight body. Low 2-ft. loading height!

Availability of equipment, accessories and trim as illustrated is dependent on material supply conditions.

Capt. W. T. Roedell

criminal cases. His earlier interest in boxing, plus his persistence in following through with an idea won him a chance to step in the same ring with Max Schmeling, who trained at Greenkill Park for his fight with Jack Sharkey in 1932. This gained him special space in the New York Journal with an article and cartoon by sports writer Hype Igoe.

The retired police captain was inducted into the service on July 25, 1918, and was first a private with Cp. F 346th Infantry, 7th Division. While on duty at St. Nazaire, France, he was transferred to the Military Police Corps on December 20, 1918, and he performed police work at Nantes, Fnace. He was discharged as a corporal August 5, 1919 as a member of the 231st Corps Military Police.

Roedell's American Legion record included vice commander, 1935-36; commander, 1936-37, and treasurer 1942-47. A member of Voiture Locale No. 381 La Societe Forty and Eight, he served as chairman of its finance committee, and treasurer of the newly organized Past Commanders' Association of the Legion post.

At the Legion Department convention in Troy in 1937 he received the gold Legion membership card for outstanding service to the Legion based mainly on his work as commander of Kingston Post, and in 1944 he received the award as the Legion member of the year in Kingston Post, mainly for his work on the Silver Jubilee ball which grossed $10,000. His efforts to build Legion membership brought it to a peak of 778 members, the largest until the end of World War 2.

Levy Is Veteran

Meyer Levy, of 22 Stuyvesant street, who had served as a special officer since Nov. 22, 1950, is a navy veteran of World War 2. He was a third class petty officer and served as a radio operator. A native of Kingston, he attended School No. 3 and Kingston High School. He was third man on the civil service eligibility list.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today that the police board had been informed that some of the men on the eligibility list had taken other work and members of the board suggested further investigation before the other appointment is made.

Henry Ronnenberg, who resigned as a special officer, was appointed on Oct. 10, 1943. Chief Van Buren said he expected that another special would be named in his place soon.

The retirement of Capt. Roedell also means a competitive civil service examination to fill the vacancy. This is not expected before the September meeting because his retirement is not effective until Aug. 12 and the board's next meeting is on Aug. 9.

nate the activities of federal agencies in restoring the general economy of the stricken area.

The President, in ordering an all-out effort to restore the economic life of the ravaged area, told Wilson the disaster "has had serious effects upon the economy of the nation and on the mobilization program."

St. Louisans were urged to go sparingly on water. Rising waters have halted trains which supply the city's two pumping plants.

However, water in reservoirs should be sufficient for the anticipated emergency period.

A small levee collapsed on the Missouri and water poured over the top of another, spilling over the Creve Couer area northwest of St. Louis where about 300 persons live. Some residents already had been evacuated and others were being moved out.

Two more levees near the junction of the two rivers gave way, increasing the threat to the village of West Alton, Mo., population 300.

The residents, warned to get out several days ago, were sticking it out in their homes. Preparations had been made for a fast evacuation in the event the town is flooded.

Only one Missouri river bridge remains in use between Kansas City and St. Charles near the mouth of the stream, across the state. That is the Daniel Boone bridge upstream from St. Charles. Highway department officials were not sure how long it would remain open.

Some Waters Ebbing

The flood waters were ebbing at Jefferson City, the state capitol in central Missouri. There the Missouri had flooded parts of some 50 blocks and about 350 persons had to be moved out.

Missouri's highways were closed at 62 points by high water.

Morton Meyer, president of the St. Louis Flood Control Association, said flood losses here might equal the $9,000,000 damage wrought by the overflow of four years ago.

In hard-hit eastern Kansas and the Kansas City area, rehabilitation work continued.

Brooklyn Man Heart Victim at High Falls

Samuel Diamond, 63, of Brooklyn, died of a heart seizure early this morning. He and his wife were boarding at High Falls. At 1 a. m. he was seized with a heart attack and went to the bath room where he collapsed. He was taken to the office of Dr. Irving H. Rosenbaum at Stone Ridge and died shortly after.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn was notified and Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was called. An investigation disclosed he had been under treatment by Dr. Rishin of Brooklyn for high blood pressure. A verdict of death from natural causes was rendered by Coroner Kelly and the body was taken in charge by the Moylan Funeral Home at Rosendale.

No autopsy will be performed.

GE Dividends

Schenectdy, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—The General Electric Company is distributing $43,000,000 in common stock dividends for the first half of 1951. The company announced yesterday that it would pay a 75-cent dividend on common stock for the second quarter, matching the one declared for the first three months. A net profit of $70,326,000 was listed for the first half, compared with 77,445,000 for the corresponding period last year.

To Register Police

Sherwood E. Davis, local director of civilian defense today reminded local residents that registration for civilian defense auxiliary police will be held from 7:30 to 9 p. m., every Tuesday starting next week. Those interested are asked to register at the office of civilian defense near police headquarters, city hall.

Opposes Demands

New York, July 20 (AP)—The General Electric Company is opposing contract demands made by the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE). Lemuel R. Boulware, G-E vice-president in charge of employe relations, said last night the company sees no reason for "any contract radically different from the present one."

A member of Voiture Locale No. 381 La Societe Forty and Eight, he served as chairman of its finance committee, and treasurer of the newly organized Past Commanders' Association of the Legion post.

At the Legion Department convention in Troy in 1937 he received the gold Legion membership card for outstanding service to the Legion based mainly on his work as commander of Kingston Post, and in 1944 he received the award as the Legion member of the year in Kingston Post, mainly for his work on the Silver Jubilee ball which grossed $10,000. His efforts to build Legion membership brought it to a peak of 778 members, the largest until the end of World War 2.

Levy Is Veteran

Meyer Levy, of 22 Stuyvesant street, who had served as a special officer since Nov. 22, 1950, is a navy veteran of World War 2. He was a third class petty officer and served as a radio operator. A native of Kingston, he attended School No. 3 and Kingston High School. He was third man on the civil service eligibility list.

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today that the police board had been informed that some of the men on the eligibility list had taken other work and members of the board suggested further investigation before the other appointment is made.

Henry Ronnenberg, who resigned as a special officer, was appointed on Oct. 10, 1943. Chief Van Buren said he expected that another special would be named in his place soon.

The retirement of Capt. Roedell also means a competitive civil service examination to fill the vacancy. This is not expected before the September meeting because his retirement is not effective until Aug. 12 and the board's next meeting is on Aug. 9.

nate the activities of federal agencies in restoring the general economy of the stricken area.

The President, in ordering an all-out effort to restore the economic life of the ravaged area, told Wilson the disaster "has had serious effects upon the economy of the nation and on the mobilization program."

St. Louisans were urged to go sparingly on water. Rising waters have halted trains which supply the city's two pumping plants.

However, water in reservoirs should be sufficient for the anticipated emergency period.

A small levee collapsed on the Missouri and water poured over the top of another, spilling over the Creve Couer area northwest of St. Louis where about 300 persons live. Some residents already had been evacuated and others were being moved out.

Two more levees near the junction of the two rivers gave way, increasing the threat to the village of West Alton, Mo., population 300.

The residents, warned to get out several days ago, were sticking it out in their homes. Preparations had been made for a fast evacuation in the event the town is flooded.

Only one Missouri river bridge remains in use between Kansas City and St. Charles near the mouth of the stream, across the state. That is the Daniel Boone bridge upstream from St. Charles. Highway department officials were not sure how long it would remain open.

Some Waters Ebbing

The flood waters were ebbing at Jefferson City, the state capitol in central Missouri. There the Missouri had flooded parts of some 50 blocks and about 350 persons had to be moved out.

Missouri highways were closed at 62 points by high water.

Morton Meyer, president of the St. Louis Flood Control Association, said flood losses here might equal the $9,000,000 damage wrought by the overflow of four years ago.

In hard-hit eastern Kansas and the Kansas City area, rehabilitation work continued.

To Register Police

Sherwood E. Davis, local director of civilian defense today reminded local residents that registration for civilian defense auxiliary police will be held from 7:30 to 9 p. m., every Tuesday starting next week. Those interested are asked to register at the office of civilian defense near police headquarters, city hall.

Opposes Demands

New York, July 20 (AP)—The General Electric Company is opposing contract demands made by the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE). Lemuel R. Boulware, G-E vice-president in charge of employe relations, said last night the company sees no reason for "any contract radically different from the present one."

Brooklyn Man Heart Victim at High Falls

Samuel Diamond, 63, of Brooklyn, died of a heart seizure early this morning. He and his wife were boarding at High Falls. At 1 a. m. he was seized with a heart attack and went to the bath room where he collapsed. He was taken to the office of Dr. Irving H. Rosenbaum at Stone Ridge and died shortly after.

District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn was notified and Coroner Ernest A. Kelly was called. An investigation disclosed he had been under treatment by Dr. Rishin of Brooklyn for high blood pressure. A verdict of death from natural causes was rendered by Coroner Kelly and the body was taken in charge by the Moylan Funeral Home at Rosendale.

No autopsy will be performed.

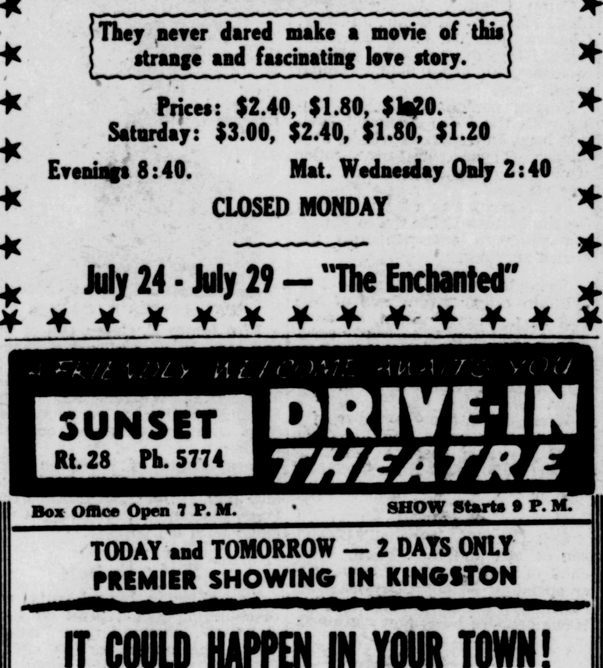

GE Dividends

Schenectdy, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—The General Electric Company is distributing $43,000,000 in common stock dividends for the first half of 1951. The company announced yesterday that it would pay a 75-cent dividend on common stock for the second quarter, matching the one declared for the first three months. A net profit of $70,326,000 was listed for the first half, compared with 77,445,000 for the corresponding period last year.

of my colleagues are for it," Rep. Spence (D.-Ky.) told newsmen. He apparently referred to those southern Democrats who have sided with GOP forces against the administration program for stronger controls.

All votes taken on the bill so far are tentative and unrecorded and so are subject to later roll-calls.

With 22 additional amendments still to be considered, prospects faded for final action on the bill today. There were indications the House may be kept on the job Saturday.

Veteran House employes said the debate, now more than two weeks old, already had continued longer than on any other piece of legislation in recent years.

While administration spokesmen were assailing the wage-price freeze as a "political maneuver" and a "scuttling amendment," Republicans contended the House action separated "the men from the boys" on the "basic issue" of controls.

Plans Completed For TV Program Starring Marines

The Commandant of the Marine Corps announced recently that negotiations between his headquarters and representatives of the National Broadcasting Company have agreed upon a series of eight weekly television programs to be titled The Marine Corps in Review. The marine shows will be a part of an overall series titled America Speaks, which features each of the services on different days of the week.

The Marine Corps in Review is a live show, to be telecast each Friday from 3:30 to 4 p. m., DST, July 20 until August 24 featuring the Marine Corps Band. The program will emphasize Marine Corps leadership, health and welfare, spiritual guidance, menus, recreation, and other subjects of vital interest to parents of Marines and future Marines. Captain John P. Green, USMCR, connected with NBC television in New York, narrates the show.

The program originates from the Marine Barracks, 8th and Eye streets, Washington, D. C., and will be transmitted through NBC network facilities to approximately 25 large eastern and mid western cities.

Time Extended

The local Marine Corps recruiting office also announced today that official word has been received extending the time to August 1 that all persons having taken their pre-induction physical examinations for the draft may volunteer for enlistment in any branch of the armed forces they choose. Previously, the volunteer condition was due to end July 15.

Further detailed information may be obtained at the Marine Corps recruiting office at the Central Postoffice Building.

dukws, vehicles which can travel on both land and water.

A headquarters communique, telling of the false start for Kaesong, said:

The UN command delegation departed the base camp by motor convoy at 8:30 a. m., for the scheduled meeting of the cease-fire negotiation conference today, but were forced to return after having proceeded more than half way, due to swollen streams that proved impassable to motor vehicles."

AP Correspondent Robert B. Tuckman, who made it through to Kaesong, said the normally shallow Yesong river had risen to four feet. Motor convoys normally forded the 108-foot wide stream to bypass a bomb-wrecked concrete bridge.

Across the river is the Communist outpost of Pan Mun Jom.

The headquarters communique said:

"The UN command liaison officer notified the Communist liaison officer at Pan Mun Jom and requested that the Communist senior delegate be informed of Adm. (C. Turner) Joy's regrets that the delegation would not arrive today."

By 11 a. m., rains ceased and the sun broke through.

While administration spokesmen were assailing the wage-price freeze as a "political maneuver" and a "scuttling amendment," Republicans contended the House action separated "the men from the boys" on the "basic issue" of controls.

Plans Completed For TV Program Starring Marines

The Commandant of the Marine Corps announced recently that negotiations between his headquarters and representatives of the National Broadcasting Company have agreed upon a series of eight weekly television programs to be titled The Marine Corps in Review. The marine shows will be a part of an overall series titled America Speaks, which features each of the services on different days of the week.

The Marine Corps in Review is a live show, to be telecast each Friday from 3:30 to 4 p. m., DST, July 20 until August 24 featuring the Marine Corps Band. The program will emphasize Marine Corps leadership, health and welfare, spiritual guidance, menus, recreation, and other subjects of vital interest to parents of Marines and future Marines. Captain John P. Green, USMCR, connected with NBC television in New York, narrates the show.

The program originates from the Marine Barracks, 8th and Eye streets, Washington, D. C., and will be transmitted through NBC network facilities to approximately 25 large eastern and mid western cities.

Time Extended

The local Marine Corps recruiting office also announced today that official word has been received extending the time to August 1 that all persons having taken their pre-induction physical examinations for the draft may volunteer for enlistment in any branch of the armed forces they choose. Previously, the volunteer condition was due to end July 15.

Further detailed information may be obtained at the Marine Corps recruiting office at the Central Postoffice Building.

dukws, vehicles which can travel on both land and water.

A headquarters communique, telling of the false start for Kaesong, said:

The UN command delegation departed the base camp by motor convoy at 8:30 a. m., for the scheduled meeting of the cease-fire negotiation conference today, but were forced to return after having proceeded more than half way, due to swollen streams that proved impassable to motor vehicles."

AP Correspondent Robert B. Tuckman, who made it through to Kaesong, said the normally shallow Yesong river had risen to four feet. Motor convoys normally forded the 108-foot wide stream to bypass a bomb-wrecked concrete bridge.

Across the river is the Communist outpost of Pan Mun Jom.

The headquarters communique said:

"The UN command liaison officer notified the Communist liaison officer at Pan Mun Jom and requested that the Communist senior delegate be informed of Adm. (C. Turner) Joy's regrets that the delegation would not arrive today."

By 11 a. m., rains ceased and the sun broke through.
